

Many parts of the world are blanketed in snow, a reminder and an insistence that this is a time of waiting and a time of patience. Such waiting and patience are always difficult, especially when we cannot gather. The snows will melt, however, and Spring will come. Until that day comes, may you have the support, peace, and rest that you need.

University Sermon on the Grace of Humility

On Sunday the 14th of February, Lincoln will be hosting the University Sermon on the Grace of Humility, given by Dr. Katharine J. Dell, University of Cambridge.

The practice of delivering University Sermons dates back to the earliest days of the University. Each year eminent men and women from many different traditions are invited by the Vice-Chancellor to deliver sermons 'before the University'. The University's motto from Psalm 27, Dominus illuminatio mea (The Lord is my light), captures something of its purpose: an occasion of focus and exploration for the illumination of the mind in the context of prayer. Today, these sermons occur at the University Church and in College Chapels across the University. They provide an opportunity to hear renowned thinkers from a range of disciplines and perspectives, drawing together the life of learning, spiritual discovery and the quest for truth.

The Chaplain

Even through lockdown and from afar, the Chaplain remains available. Whether you are feeling anxious or worried, facing one of life's difficulties or tragedies, or even just want to chat with someone outside your bubble, the Chaplain is always available.

If you are in Oxford, he is also happy to meet for a walk!
