Rector's Preface

This Handbook is intended to guide you through the practicalities of life at Lincoln College. In the nature of things, it is about everyday matters, some of which may seem at first sight rather obvious and uninteresting. Nonetheless, it is important that you should have a clear and accessible account both of the requirements of collegiate living and the numerous sources of help available if you encounter any problems, minor or major.

Documents of this kind can seem rather mechanical or even legalistic. The Handbook's actual purpose is far more ambitious than that, however. An Oxford college is first and foremost a community, and Lincoln has a strong reputation for its collegiality and friendly feeling. Our outlook is based on the premise that individual improvement flourishes in a residential, close-knit setting that allows for all kinds of interaction. We are intensely proud of the intellectual excellence and distinction which we nurture. But just as important are the personal development and different achievements that form part of the educational experience in its fullest sense. Our graduate and undergraduate students participate and often excel in a remarkable range of activities: music, drama, debating, journalism and all sorts of sports from the river and the football field to the ballroom floor and the dart board. They bring together people from very different backgrounds, not only in Britain but from all around the world.

I hope it goes without saying that a community like this depends crucially on consideration for others. In everything it does, the College follows policies framed to treat people fairly and equally, to promote social integration and to exclude all forms of discrimination on grounds of race, ethnic origin, sex, sexual orientation, religion, age or disability. But policies and procedures are of little value without the active co-operation of the community's members. A commitment to mutual tolerance underlies our academic pursuits and everything that goes with them. Please treat the Handbook as a useful manual to be interpreted in this spirit, and do by all means suggest any improvements that you think we might make to it. I hope in particular that you will feel free to raise any matters of concern to you with me or with my colleagues.

I look forward, with my wife, to meeting you in the Rector's Lodgings and in many other contexts over the coming years.

Professor Henry Woudhuysen
Rector

Being in 'Residence' at Oxford

2.1. The Academic Year and Term Dates

At Oxford, the academic year is divided into three terms – Michaelmas, Hilary and Trinity. 'Full term' (in which lectures and tutorials take place) lasts for eight weeks. You will often find that dates are referred to as 'Tuesday of 3rd week' or 'Friday of 7th week'. This system is logically extended to the weeks prior to the start of term ('0th week') and after the end of term ('9th week'). Please note that Oxford weeks, and terms, begin on Sundays.

Undergraduates must be in residence by Thursday of 0th week (there are often College exams on Friday of 0th week), and graduates must return by Sunday of 0th week. University examinations will sometimes continue into 9th or 10th weeks: you will receive prior warning if this is the case.

EXAMS OUT OF TERM TIME: Please note that many undergraduate and graduate subjects will have exams scheduled after 17th June. You must check with your tutor before making travel arrangements.

For term dates in future years and dates of Extended Terms for Part II candidates in Chemistry and in Molecular and Cellular Biochemistry, for the Clinical course for the Second BM, Graduate-entry Medicine, the Postgraduate Certificate in Education, and for the MBA and MPP please check the University website. Please also check these dates before making holiday plans.

2.2. Residence Requirements

The University's residence requirements apply to all full-time students. The Examination Regulations for your course set out the minimum number of terms you must live in Oxford. Residence limits do not apply to students on part-time courses, students carrying out approved study abroad, or D.Phil. students who have permission to work away from Oxford.

Undergraduates

For undergraduate students, this usually means both that students are required to live within a certain distance from the University (called limits in the regulations) and for a set period of time during their studies (called terms in the regulations). Typically undergraduate students must generally reside within 6 miles of Carfax Tower. However if a student holds the status of Senior Student, or has already satisfied the examiners in a Second Public Examination, or resides in the home of a parent or guardian, they can live within 25 miles of Carfax Tower.

In addition undergraduate students are required to be in residence for at least six weeks of each term of their course. The exact number of terms is dependent on the degree, the subject and the candidate's status. Further information can be found in the course examination regulations.

Postgraduates

For postgraduate students, this usually means residing within 25 miles of Carfax Tower, unless given special permission to work away from Oxford for a period of time (typically agreed and approved by the department).

In addition, postgraduate students are required to be in residence for a minimum number of terms. The exact number of terms is dependent on the degree, the subject and the candidate's status. Further information can be found in the course's examination regulations.

Postgraduate research students

Individuals requesting dispensation from the residence requirements

Residency requirements for postgraduate research students (PGR) are more flexible than those for post graduate taught students (PGT).

The DPhil residence requirement is for 6 terms over the duration of the programme for full-time students if they have no prior study at Oxford, and 3 terms if the student has successfully completed a Masters at Oxford (students applying for an MSc by Research should discuss residence requirements with their department in the first instance as the requirements are different to the DPhil). The terms do not need to be consecutive. Students on part-time programmes are exempt from the residence requirement altogether (see General Regulations for the Degree of Doctor of Philosophy, section 6).

Most PGR students are first admitted as a Probationer Research Student, unless they are admitted directly to DPhil status having successfully completed an MPhil and are pursuing research in the same field as their MPhil thesis. The General Regulations Governing Research Degrees include the expectation that Probationer Research Students (PRS) are physically studying at Oxford. However, the regulations do allow boards to approve a student being resident elsewhere whilst studying. Residence outside of Oxford for COVID-19 related reasons are acceptable grounds for boards to grant a PRS student permission not to be resident in Oxford while they hold this status. To apply for such a dispensation, students will need to complete a GSO.08 Dispensation from statutory residency form, and discuss it with the college and their department. Student requiring exemption from the residence requirements for academic reasons should complete the same form.

Once admitted to DPhil student status (having passed Transfer of Status) students must meet their residence requirement across the duration of their programme (normally between 9 and 12 terms, inclusive of the time spent as a PRS). If returning students (or those admitted direct to DPhil status) are unable to return and cannot fulfil the residence requirement in their time remaining on course, they should apply for a Dispensation from Residence using the online form available via the GSO.08 Dispensation from statutory residency form. This should be subject to discussions with the supervisor and/or DGS to determine what work the student can reasonably do on their DPhil outside of Oxford. Options such as suspension or extension could also be explored, if appropriate.

Individuals requesting to live outside University residence limits

The Proctors may excuse a student from residing within the specified limits, if there are good reasons why this is not possible. Students should discuss this first with the College and their department, as the Proctors will require approval from both to consider approving a request.

For Postgraduate research students only, a distinction needs to be made between students who are not able to physically study in Oxford and those who can commute into Oxford to study but wish to live outside of the 25-mile radius of Carfax Tower residence limit. Students in the former category should apply to the relevant board as described in the section above. Students who require dispensation to live greater than 25 miles away from Carfax Tower, but commute into Oxford should read the section on living outside University residence limits and apply to the Proctors' Office using the dispensation form.

A residency limits application form should be submitted to the Proctors' Office, detailing the support for the request from both the college and department, along with any supporting evidence.

2.3 Being away from College

Students are required to be in residence for the duration of full term, weekends included. However, there is some flexibility within the residence requirements so, provided there is no adverse effect on your work, you may normally occasionally absent yourself from College for one night. If you do need to leave Oxford during full term you must get permission from your tutor in advance.

If you live in College accommodation you must inform the Lodge that you will be away overnight, so that your absence can be accounted for should there be a fire alarm or other emergency. Do this by leaving with the lodge a sealed envelope showing on the front your name and the date on which you will be absent. Put inside the envelope the address at which you will be staying and telephone number. This will only be opened in an emergency. You can retrieve the unopened envelope when you return.

2.4. Addresses

The College needs to have up-to-date contact details for both term time and vacation so that we can contact you in an emergency. You are asked to update your contact details when you register online each year, but please also let the College Office know directly of any changes. It's also a good idea to leave a forwarding address at the Lodge during vacations.

Undergraduate Academic Life

Clinical Medics (2nd BM)

Clinical Medics are undergraduate students, and as such are eligible for the same grants, bursaries and prizes as other undergraduate students. However, as they have already completed an undergraduate degree they are members of the MCR, and are housed in graduate accommodation. Clinical Medics can also apply to the Lewis and Audrey Cannell Clinical Medicine Travel and Equipment Fund to help with expenses related to their studies.

3.1. Introduction

Members of Lincoln College are part of an academic community first and foremost. This section explains what we expect of you, and what you can expect of your tutors. It will also point you towards the resources available to support you, and give you an overview of the stages of your academic career.

Please be aware that various arrangements remain in place this year to ensure that you can learn safely. Please refer regularly to the COVID-19 pages on the College and University websites for the latest information. Here you will find information about the academic arrangements in place this term, including health and safety guidance for teaching, arrangements for remote study and vaccination information. These websites will be updated frequently so it is important that you check them often. Please also consult Appendix C: Requirements for students during the Covid-19 pandemic.

3.2. Overview

As you will have noticed in section 2, Oxford terms are short. Lectures, classes, laboratories, tutorials, essays and problem sheets are squeezed into eight intense weeks. It's therefore important that you work hard right through term, and make time in the vacations to review and consolidate what you've learned (as well as taking a deserved break and perhaps taking paid work). There are University examinations at the end of the first year (called 'Mods' or 'Prelims'), except for Law, whose students have their Mods earlier, in second half of the first week of the Easter vacation. You then begin the two or three year course leading to your final examinations in your chosen 'Final Honours School' (FHS). Your tutors will be on hand to help you negotiate your way through the workload and the options available.

3.3. Matriculation

All students must attend a matriculation ceremony, which marks your formal admission into the University of Oxford. Exceptions are certain visiting students and those who have already matriculated at the University of Cambridge or Trinity College Dublin. It is therefore essential that you matriculate with your peers on Saturday of 1st week. Make sure you read the various notices and emails about the date, time and the sub-fusc dress code.

3.4. Registration

You must register on-line via Student Self Service at the beginning of each academic year - you will be sent notification and instructions when registration is due. Registration confirms that the University has correct information about you and that you are returning to continue your studies. It is also what triggers student loan and bursary payments – so there is a big incentive not to forget!

3.5. Academic Dress

This is also known as sub-fusc, and means a gown, mortar board or soft cap, and your preferred option of the following:

- dark suit with dark socks;
- dark skirt with black tights; or
- dark trousers with dark socks.

This should be worn with a plain white, collared, shirt or blouse, with either a white bow tie, black bow tie, black full-length tie, or a black ribbon. Shoes must be black, and a dark coat can be worn if required. Anyone incorrectly dressed could be turned away by University officials, with potentially dire consequences if you then miss the matriculation ceremony or exam.

3.6. Tutorials

Tutorials are a major method of teaching in Oxford in all subjects. You will normally have tutorials every week, and will have to submit an essay or problem sheet in advance which will form the basis of discussion.

Tutorials should not be treated like lectures – don't just passively note down everything your tutor says! Neither will your tutorials comprehensively cover every topic that may come up in the examinations. Rather, the aim of tutorials is to develop how you think and analyse information through the discussion of ideas and problems thrown up by your submitted work. Working through your essay or problem sheet, you will discuss its structure and arguments and so your written work will improve. A tutorial will help both you and your tutor assess how far you have mastered the topic; it will help you solve difficulties that have arisen in the course of that work; and it should offer guidance for further progress.

3.7. Exam Entry and Timetables

In order that you are entered for the correct examinations you need to complete an online entry form via the Student Self-Service website indicating which options you are taking. You will be sent an email invitation from the University's Examination Schools instructing you to make your selections by a given date – do stick to this timetable as the University will fine you for late submissions. There is also a fee if you decide to change an option later.

Please see www.ox.ac.uk/students/academic/exams/timetables where you can find links to the provisional start dates for your exams and much other useful information about Examinations. Your final examination timetable will be emailed to you by the Examination Schools, at least two weeks before the first examination.

3.7.1. Religious Festivals, Religious Fasting and Examinations

If, for reasons of faith, you are forbidden from taking papers on religious festivals or other special days which may coincide with days on which examinations are set, or you are likely to be fasting on those days, you may apply to the Proctors, through the Senior Tutor, for approval of alternative examination arrangements. This application must be made as soon as possible after matriculation and you need to specify your faith and the details of any days specially affected. Please consult the full regulations on the examination regulations . You can ask the Academic Registrar for advice before making an application.

3.8. Academic Good Standing: what is expected of you?

Lincoln is an academic community and your continued membership of the College is conditional on maintaining good academic standing. This is what we mean by good academic standing: maintaining an academic performance commensurate with your individual ability and circumstances (usually expected to be at least 2.i standard), plus attending punctually all tutorials, collections and classes required by your tutors, including those organised by your Department or Faculty, and submitting all written work on time unless prior permission has been obtained from the tutor in question. If it is not possible to get permission in advance, due to illness or some other emergency, you should explain the reason for this to your tutor as soon as possible afterwards.

When you were offered a place at the College it was expected that you would be capable of achieving at least an upper second-class honours degree (2.i). Work consistently falling below the 2.i standard (i.e. below 60%) will be a cause of concern for your tutors and may lead to the initiation of the Academic Support and Discipline Procedure (see section 3.15 below). Marks below 60% in College Collections or Public Examinations will also be a cause for concern for your tutors and may lead to the initiation of the Academic Support and Discipline Procedure, and marks below 50% in public examinations will lead to initiation of the procedure. This procedure is designed to enable you to improve your work and regain good academic standing. If your work does not improve to the required standard you may not be permitted to continue your studies.

You must satisfy any conditions required by the Examination Regulations relating to the particular School for which you are studying, e.g. for practical work or vacation courses. You must also fulfil the University's residence requirements outlined in Section 2 above.

You must check your Lincoln email account every day, as this is the way the College will communicate with you, and respond promptly to any messages from your tutors.

3.9. What to do if you have problems

If you do have problems with your work, for academic, medical or personal reasons, you will find your tutors sympathetic and supportive provided that you are doing your best to maintain a satisfactory standard. What is most important is that you let your tutors know of any problems that might prevent you from working to the best of your ability – keep them informed. If you prefer to talk to someone other than your tutor then you can speak with the Senior Tutor, who can offer advice, or the Student Support Advisor. See also Section 6, Student Support.

3.10. Plagiarism

Plagiarism is wrongfully presenting another person's work or ideas as your own, often through failure to acknowledge sources by citation and referencing. The University's web page on plagiarism provides the following definition:

Plagiarism is presenting someone else's work or ideas as your own, with or without their consent, by incorporating it into your work without full acknowledgement. All published and unpublished material, whether in manuscript, printed or electronic form¹, is covered under this definition. Plagiarism may be intentional or reckless, or unintentional. Under the regulations for examinations, intentional or reckless plagiarism is a disciplinary offence.

If plagiarism is suspected in tutorial essays, problem sheets, vacation essays, collections, or other form of work required by College tutors, there will be an investigation under the

¹ Please note that this includes non-text media, such as podcast lectures and television programmes

College's Academic Discipline and Support procedure (see 3.15, below). If you are in any doubt about the correct procedures for acknowledging the contributions made by other people's ideas to your own work, your tutors can provide help and guidance. You will also find guidance on the University's website, and a link to an online course.

If plagiarism is suspected in a piece of work submitted to the University for examination there will be a full investigation by the Proctors, which may result in severe penalties if proved - read section 7.7 Plagiarism in The University Student Handbook.

3.11. Monitoring your progress: Reports and Collections

You will be able to keep track of your progress through feedback from your tutors and by reading their termly reports on Oxford's Teaching Management System (TMS) (<https://tms.ox.ac.uk> - log on with your single sign on details). There are also three other formal methods of monitoring progress: Collections, Rector's Collections and Subject Collections.

Collections are examinations set by the College that take place on the Thursday/Friday of 0th week and usually cover the material studied the previous term. You must sit Collections unless your subject tutor informs you otherwise. You will receive your timetable by email, normally on Wednesday the week before 0th week.

Once a year, all students meet with the Rector, Senior Tutor and their subject tutors for Rector's Collections in order to discuss tutors' reports and progress over the year. Third and fourth years, and first year lawyers, have Rector's Collections on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday of Week 8 of Michaelmas Term, all second years have theirs on the same days in Week 8 of Hilary Term, and the remaining first years in Week 2 of Trinity Term - pencil these dates in your diary at the beginning of term. You will be told your exact time slot about a week before. If the given time clashes with academic commitments let the Graduate Officer and Academic Assistant know and she will try to change the slot, but this may not be possible. Rector's Collections take priority.

In terms when you don't have Rector's Collections you will normally meet with your subject tutors to review your reports (Subject Collections). They will be in touch to arrange a time.

3.12. Feedback

Your tutors will comment on your submitted work every week, unless some other timetable has been arranged. Work for university classes will also be marked. You will also receive feedback through Collection marks, TMS reports and the meetings with your tutors. The College welcomes feedback about tutorials. If you have any worries or concerns about your tutorials please speak to your tutors or contact the Senior Tutor.

3.13. First Public Examination

Public Examinations are University Examinations. The first, known as 'Prelims' (Preliminary Examination) or, for Law students, 'Mods' (Moderations) take place at the end of the first year, except in the case of Law, where the First Public Examination takes place in the Easter vacation of the first year. You must pass before you can continue to the second year. Any student who fails their First Public Examination should contact their subject tutors and the Senior Tutor as soon as possible for advice. If you are not successful the first time you must retake the examination over the vacation. If you fail again and there are no clear mitigating circumstances you will not be able to continue your studies at Lincoln.

3.14. Rewards for good progress and outstanding performance

The College is keen to encourage students to work to the very best of their ability and awards Scholarships, Exhibitions and Prizes to those showing exceptional promise or achieving outstanding marks in examinations.

Scholarships and Exhibitions can be awarded from the second year onwards. They are held for a year, and may be renewed if the student maintains an exceptional standard of work. Scholars and Exhibitioners are granted £150-£700 per year, and attend a dinner with their tutors. Students are nominated by their tutors, and the final decision is made by the Senior Tutor's Committee. Scholars and Exhibitioners are entitled to wear a Scholar's gown.

A list of those in receipt of Scholarships, Exhibitions and Prizes will be displayed in a glass case in the Porters' Lodge, and will be published in the Lincoln College Record.

The College also awards prizes of £50-£150 for achieving a First or Distinction in Public Examinations. The Stansbie Prize is awarded for the best performance in Finals in a science subject and the Anne-Marie Drummond Prize for the best performance in a humanities or social science subject. Prizes may also be awarded for other examples of exceptional achievement. Book tokens are given in recognition of outstanding work in Collections.

3.15. Academic Support and Discipline

Section 3.8 sets out what is expected of you in order to maintain good academic standing. By accepting your place at Lincoln you agree to comply with these standards and the University and College's regulations.

Informal Discussion and Support: the College's first aim is to ensure that students who fall below these academic standards or who fail to comply with College's academic regulations are given help to regain good academic standing through close monitoring and support. Students have every opportunity to discuss any problems or mitigating circumstances with their subject tutors. If a student is in difficulties, their tutor(s) will address this with them informally, set out the actions needed to improve performance, and consider whether some additional support or remedial work would be appropriate. If the required improvements are not met, the student will be referred by their tutor(s) to the Formal Procedure. A student may be referred directly to the Formal Procedure in cases of serious breaches of Academic Good Standing, as for example, instances of plagiarism.

Formal Procedure: The formal Academic Support and Discipline Procedure has two stages. The first stage is overseen by the Senior Tutor, who may give a Formal Warning, accompanied by requirements for improvement. A student who fails to meet these requirements for improvement is referred to the second stage of the Procedure, which is overseen by the Academic Disciplinary Committee (ADC). The ADC will normally set Special Collections or require the student to achieve a certain standard in a Public Examination, or set some other requirement or requirements, according to the particular nature of the breach of good standing in question. Failure to meet the requirements set by the ADC may result in the student being sent down (leaving College permanently).

The By-laws governing academic discipline are reproduced here: you should read them carefully at the beginning of your first term.

VI:A ACADEMIC SUPPORT AND DISCIPLINE

1 Requirements for the maintenance of good academic standing: undergraduates

- i. For the purposes of By-law VI:A, 'undergraduates' includes graduates reading for a Final Honour School. It also includes Visiting Students following an undergraduate course of study at Lincoln but not reading for a Final Honour School.

- ii. Undergraduates are required to produce work of a standard commensurate with their individual ability and circumstances and appropriate to the stage which they have reached in their course: normally of at least 2.1 standard, that is, 60% or above.
- iii. Undergraduates must keep the residence requirements laid down by the University. An undergraduate who fails to do so will be sent down, unless he or she is granted dispensation by the University.
- iv. Attendance at tutorials, collections, Rector's Collections, Subject Collections, and at classes required by tutors, is compulsory. Undergraduates must not absent themselves without prior permission except for illness or other urgent cause, which must be explained to the tutor as soon as possible afterwards. Undergraduates must satisfy any conditions required by the Examination Decrees and Regulations relating to the particular School for which they are studying, e.g. for practical work or vacation courses.
- v. Every undergraduate is required to produce assignments (essays, problem sheets, etc.) with the regularity and punctuality required by the tutor(s), except where permission on adequate grounds is obtained, preferably in advance, from the tutor(s) concerned.
- vi. Every undergraduate is required to ensure that essays, problem sheets, collections, and any other forms of submission are entirely their own work and are properly referenced. Plagiarism in submitted work is a serious breach of academic good standing.
- vii. Every undergraduate is required either to sit one or more written invigilated collections at the beginning of each term, or to submit by the end of 0th Week written work specified by their tutor and produced during the vacation, unless dispensed from doing so by the tutor. Collections take precedence over all other engagements.
- viii. An undergraduate who passes the First Public Examination (FPE) but receives a mark below 50% for any paper shall automatically be referred directly to the Academic Discipline Committee (ADC) under Stage 2 below. Passing any University Examination (a Public Examination) with marks below 60% may also constitute a breach of good academic standing, as representing work not of the standard required in ii above.
- ix. An undergraduate who fails the FPE shall automatically be referred directly to the ADC under Stage 2 below. However, where the failure occurs on the undergraduate's first attempt at the FPE, the ADC, whatever other decisions it may take, shall always permit him or her to resit the Examination; except where he or she is sent down independently of the failure, or where the failure amounts to an event which the ADC has already decided should entail sending down. Such a resit shall occur at the first available opportunity, except where a postponement is needed on medical or other grounds.
- x. In no case shall an undergraduate enter the second year of study at the College without first passing the FPE.

2 Reporting

- i Marks awarded for collections or other academic work set during the vacation, shall be returned by Tutors to undergraduates and to the Senior Tutor by the end of 3rd Week each term.
- ii Tutors shall submit Tutorial Reports to the College Office by the Monday of 8th Week of each term; undergraduates shall normally be summoned during 8th Week either before the Rector and/or the Senior Tutor and their own subject tutor(s), or before their subject tutors only, to hear reports on their work and progress.

3 Informal Discussion and Support

If, in the judgement of their tutor(s), an undergraduate is not, or is at risk of not being, in good academic standing, the tutor(s) shall normally meet the undergraduate and explain to them the nature of the deficiencies observed, to set out the actions needed to improve performance, and to consider whether some additional support or remedial work would be appropriate. The tutor(s) will have regard to any support measures arranged for the undergraduate through the Disability Advisory Service.

4 Academic Support and Discipline Procedure

i. Stage 1: Formal Warning

An undergraduate who fails to maintain good academic standing will be reported to the Senior Tutor by the subject tutor(s), who shall provide the Senior Tutor with details of the deficiencies noted and of any informal discussion and support already provided to the student to help them improve their standing. The Senior Tutor may initiate the procedure directly, on the evidence of academic deficiency demonstrated by examination or collection results or plagiarism.

The Senior Tutor shall hold a special interview with the student. At this interview should occur a full discussion of the deficiency complained of, so that the student can put his or her case and make the college aware of any mitigating or complicating factors. Any such factors should (with the undergraduate's permission) be noted on their file, and may affect the course of action to be taken. In particular, as appropriate in specific cases, and as agreed in discussion with the student, suitable remedial measures may be put in place to support the student in improving their academic performance. The Senior Tutor shall also have regard to any support measures arranged for the student through the Disability Advisory Service.

The Senior Tutor may issue a Formal Warning. The Formal Warning shall specify: the academic deficiency in question; any remedial measures to be undertaken; the improvements required; and the period within which such improvements should be demonstrated. In a case without complications, the period for improvement will normally be 1–4 weeks (excluding vacation periods). A copy of the warning shall be given to the student (together with a copy of the relevant section of the Student Handbook, giving details of the applicable procedure) within one week of the interview. Copies of the warning shall also be passed to the student's current tutors and placed on the student's file.

According to the circumstances of the case, the Senior Tutor may refer it directly to the College's Fitness to Study Panel (By-law VI:H 5).

ii. Stage 2: Academic Disciplinary Committee

If the undergraduate does not meet the conditions set by the Formal Warning or demonstrates further academic deficiency, the Senior Tutor shall refer the case to the Sub-Rector, who shall convene an Academic Disciplinary Committee (ADC), consisting of the Sub-Rector and two other Fellows not being the undergraduate's tutors. If the Sub-Rector is the undergraduate's tutor, they shall nominate another senior fellow, not being the undergraduate's tutor, to chair the ADC. The Sub-Rector may also nominate another senior fellow to act in their place in any other case. The Committee shall proceed as follows –

- (a) the Senior Tutor shall supply the members of the Committee with a statement of the grounds on which the undergraduate is being referred to the Committee, and a copy of all relevant documentation. The Senior Tutor shall simultaneously supply the same materials to the undergraduate.
- (b) the Committee shall meet as soon as practicable; normally within two weeks of receiving the materials. It may hold such further meetings as it may decide.
- (c) the undergraduate shall be given the opportunity to bring forward material considerations and mitigating circumstances. To this end, they shall be invited to make a written submission to the Committee and/or to appear in person before the Committee, and in the latter case to be accompanied by a person of their choice, that person being a current member of the University (for example, a JCR officer, or Chaplain, or OUSU officer). Any written submission or evidence supplied by the student must be received by the Chair of the ADC no less than 48 hours before the advertised time of the meeting.
- (d) the ADC may call the student's Tutor(s) and/or Senior Tutor to attend the meeting in order to answer the Committee's questions. The ADC may also ask for medical advice and will have regard to the any support measures for the student recommended by the Disability Advisory Service.

(e) having considered the case, the ADC will make one of the following decisions:

1. The student will be sent down immediately
2. The student will be required to suspend status for a specified number of terms, to be readmitted into residence on such terms as the Committee may decide.
3. The student is permitted to remain in residence, on such terms as the Committee may decide.
4. The case should be referred to the Fitness to Study Panel.
5. No further action is necessary.

The decision shall be communicated in writing to the student and the Senior Tutor. In case of decision 2 or 3, when the deficiencies in question include sub-standard work, the ADC shall require the undergraduate to achieve a certain standard in Special Collections or in Public Examination. The arrangements for, and standard to be attained in, these Collections/Examinations shall be as the Committee, having consulted the subject tutor(s), shall consider appropriate in all the circumstances, and shall be communicated in writing to the undergraduate. At least three weeks shall normally be allowed between the communication of the arrangement to the undergraduate and the date of the collections or Public Examination(s). The standard to be attained shall not normally diverge from that required of the undergraduate during the Formal Warning stage. Each Special Collection paper shall normally be blind-marked by two external assessors, who shall not previously have taught the undergraduate in question; if the assessors' marks differ, it shall be decided whether the required standard has been attained by taking their average. The student will be required to maintain their normal schedule of academic work during the period of preparation for, and sitting, Special Collections.

iii. Further academic deficiency: An undergraduate who, after any stage of the above procedure, attains what is required but who demonstrates further academic deficiency (whether or not of the same kind as before), shall be reported by his or her tutor to the Senior Tutor. The Senior Tutor shall then recommence the above procedure at Stage 2.

iv. Stage 3: Right of Appeal

The arrangements whereby students may appeal against orders made against them by the Academic Disciplinary Committee are set out in By-law VI:P Appeals [See Appendix B]

v. Reporting

A report shall be made to Governing Body, via the Michaelmas Term meeting of the Senior Tutor's Committee, about the work done under this By-law by the Academic Disciplinary Committee over the preceding academic year. This report shall be presented in such a way as not to disclose the identity of the students involved.

3.16. Exceptional Circumstances

3.16.1. Changes of Course

Your offer of a place at Lincoln was for a certain Final Honours School and it is expected that you will continue with that subject. However, the College may consider requests to move to a different Final Honours School if it is satisfied that you are qualified to read the School with profit and the change will not disrupt the teaching of other students. The non-availability of tuition or the timing of the First Public Examination may make changing course impossible. If you are considering applying to change course you must speak to the Senior Tutor as early as possible.

3.16.2. Suspension of Status

In exceptional circumstances, such as serious ill-health, it may be necessary for a junior member to go out of residence for a period of time, normally three terms. This is called 'suspension of status'. The process can be initiated by the Junior Member or by the College.

Suspension of status may also come about as the result of a disciplinary action, but Junior Members should be reassured that the term itself is neutral, and that suspension on health or welfare grounds has no negative or disciplinary connotation.

The College's procedures on suspension of status, which apply to all students going out of residence for whatever reason, are as follows.

The Junior Member will meet with the Senior Tutor to receive guidance and advice on the process and to ensure that any necessary medical or other evidence has been received by the College. If College requires, or agrees to, the suspension of status, a reasonable date for vacating the College, and for return, will be agreed. The letter confirming the suspension will normally contain the following clauses:

- You may retain your Lincoln email address and your University Card during your absence, and you will continue to have the access to the University's electronic library resources.
- If your University card is due to expire during the period of suspension you will be issued with a replacement to cover the period between the end date of the original card and the expected end of the suspension
- You may use University libraries and other University facilities.
- You may make contact with the University's Advisory and Welfare services.
- No tuition will be provided during your period away from College; however your tutors will be happy to advise you on reading materials and exercises to help you prepare for returning to study.
- The Senior Tutor, the Chaplain, and the JCR or MCR Welfare Officer may be contacted for advice on non-academic matters.
- During the period of suspension you must ask for the Senior Tutor's permission, in writing, before visiting College premises or using College facilities.
- If you have suspended status for medical reasons the College will need confirmation, 8 weeks before the anticipated date of return, of your fitness to return. You must arrange for your home G.P. or Specialist to write to the College Doctor with an assessment of your fitness to return. The College Doctor will then advise the College whether you are fit to return.
- If fit to return, you may come back into residence 2 weeks before the start of the term in which you are due to resume status.
- The College cannot guarantee that accommodation will be available, but is usually able to accommodate returning students: please contact the Accommodation Manager well in advance.
- You must settle any outstanding battels before returning into residence.

- On your return you will sit Collections, normally those being taken by other undergraduates in your year and course, but, where necessary, collections devised for you. If you have suspended status for medical or welfare reasons you will not be required to achieve a stated percentage mark in these collections as a condition of return, but you will be expected to demonstrate that you are well-prepared to resume your course of study at the required level.
- [In cases of suspension on Disciplinary or Academic Disciplinary grounds other requirements may be specified here as a condition of return, according to the particular circumstances of each case.]

3.16.3. Problems completing assessments

You may become ill, or experience some other major disruption ('illness or other urgent cause that is unforeseeable, unavoidable and/or insurmountable' in official University parlance) while preparing for or completing University assessments (including exams, essays, dissertations and projects). There are a number of processes to support you in these circumstances.

If, in the case of submitted essays, dissertations or projects, you are unable to meet the published deadline, please contact the Academic Registrar in the first instance for advice. There is detailed information on the University website on when and how to apply for extensions of time for submitted work. Applications are usually made by the College to the Proctors on your behalf, and require supporting evidence (such as medical note in the case of illness).

If you are too unwell to sit a University examination please contact the Academic Registrar immediately. It may be possible for you to sit the paper in College later that day if arrangements are put in place quickly. Keep the College Office phone numbers (01865 279801 / 287347) handy during the exam period. If it isn't possible to take the examination, you can apply to the Proctors for an excusal. There is more information on the University website about the process of applying for excusal. Again, applications come from the College, and require supporting evidence.

If you are able to complete your assessment, but feel that your performance was significantly affected by factors beyond your control either during or before the assessment, you can submit a Mitigating Circumstances Notice to Examiners. The MCE goes to the Exam Board who decide your classification for that part of the degree. There is information about the process and possible outcomes on the University website. You can seek advice from the Student Support Advisor about making an application, which are made via Student Self Service. MCEs must be submitted before the Exam Board meets, or they may not be considered.

3.16.4 Fitness to Study

In exceptional circumstances, a student may not be in a position to continue with their studies for a time. The College has adopted a 'Fitness to Study' procedure to be followed in such circumstances. It has been created to align with the policy set in place by the University for handling such circumstances (please see Section 4 of the University Student Handbook). The College's procedure is laid out in the following By-Law.

VI:H STUDENT HEALTH

5. Fitness to Study

i. Definition¹

'Fitness to study' shall mean:

(a) a student's fitness:

- (i) to commence a distinct course of academic study; or
- (ii) to continue with his/her current course of academic study; or
- (iii) to return to his/her current or another course of academic study; and

(b) his/her ability to meet:

- (i) the reasonable academic requirements of the course or programme; and
- (ii) the reasonable social and behavioural requirements of a student member (whether resident in college or not) without his/her physical, mental, emotional or psychological health or state having an unacceptably deleterious impact upon the health, safety and/or welfare of the student and/or other students and/or University or college staff (not withstanding adjustments required by law).

ii. Application

- (i) This By-Law applies to undergraduate, graduate and visiting students of the College and refers to all such people as 'students'. It describes procedures for resolving questions concerning a student's Fitness to Study, including referral of cases to the College's Fitness to Study Panel.
- (ii) A junior member, believing that he or she is not fit to study may make a request, in writing, to the Senior Tutor to take a short leave of absence (up to 14 days), or to suspend status for a period of up to one calendar year, the request to be accompanied by relevant medical or other evidence. Where necessary, the student will be asked to grant permission to the College Doctor and/or any other doctor or health care professional who may be advising the student to discuss the student's circumstances with the Senior Tutor, and with any other such doctor or health care professional. The Senior Tutor, having consulted with the student's tutor(s), other senior members as necessary, and the College Doctor, may grant permission to suspend status. This permission, and the conditions to be met for the student's return, will be put in writing and communicated to the student.
- (iii) Where a student's Tutor, or another Senior Member, has good cause to believe that a student is, or is likely to be, unfit to study, he or she may ask the Senior Tutor to arrange a meeting between the student, the subject tutors (or graduate advisor and supervisor), and one or more senior members who have knowledge of the case, to agree upon a course of action that will be in the best interests of the student and of the College community. The Senior Tutor may ask for evidence, including medical evidence, to be provided by the College Doctor, and/or other persons able to advise the College on the student's fitness and, where necessary, will ask the student to grant permission to the College Doctor and/or any other doctor or health care professional who may be advising the student to discuss the student's circumstances with the Senior Tutor, and with any other such doctor or health care professional. The student shall except where not reasonably practicable be given at least 2 working days' notice of the meeting.
- (iv) If, following the steps taken under (ii) (iii), the student refuses to accept the Senior Members' recommended course of action, or, following the steps taken under (i) the student refuses to accept a decision by the Senior Tutor that he or she is fit to study, the Senior Tutor will refer the case to the College's Fitness to Study Panel.
- (v) The Academic Discipline Committee may refer a case to the Fitness to Study Panel.
- (vi) In urgent cases, or where there is concern for the safety and welfare of the student and/or of other members of the College community, and/or of the wider University, the Senior Tutor, or Senior Dean, or Chaplain & Student Welfare Co-ordinator or Rector, shall have authority to refer a case directly to the College's Fitness to Study Panel.

- (vii) The College's Fitness to Study Panel will be convened and unless the Panel decides otherwise chaired by the Sub-Rector and will consist of the Sub-Rector and two other Senior Members not being the student's tutors or advisor. (If the Sub-Rector is the student's tutor or advisor, he or she shall nominate another senior fellow, not being the student's tutor, to take his or her place. The Sub-Rector may also nominate another senior fellow to act in his or her place in any other case. The Panel shall proceed as follows –
- (a) The Panel shall receive from the referring Senior Member a statement of the grounds on which the student's case is being referred to the Panel, together with copies of any relevant documentation. The referring Senior Member shall simultaneously supply the same materials to the student.
 - (b) The student shall except where not reasonably practicable be given 7 working days' notice of any meeting of the Panel and the Panel shall meet as soon as practicable; normally within one week of receiving the materials. It may hold such further meetings as it may decide. Except in so far as to do so would be inconsistent with the provisions of this by-law, the Panel shall have the power to regulate its own proceedings.
 - (c) the student shall be given the opportunity to make a written submission to the Panel and/or attend a meeting with the Panel, in the latter case to be accompanied by a person of his or her choice (for example, a JCR officer), but not a legal representative. If the student is subject to an Interim Exclusion order, he or she shall not be permitted to return to College in order to participate in these proceedings unless the Rector so orders. A student may empower a friend or family member to act on his or her behalf but the Panel will not permit legal representation.
 - (d) the Panel will consider the matter fully, requesting, if necessary, further evidence or expert advice, and will decide whether the student is fit to study and whether the student should be sent down; or should be required to suspend status; or should be permitted to remain in residence on such terms as the Panel may decide; or should be readmitted into residence, on such terms as the Panel may decide.
 - (e) The Panel's determination shall be put in writing and communicated to the student within 14 days of the Panel meeting. The communication shall mention the student's right of appeal, as set out in By-Law VI:P Appeals.

3.17. Undertaking Paid Work

3.17.1. Vacations

As noted in 3.2, you are required to study during Vacations in order to consolidate the term's work and prepare for Collections. However, the College realises that students may need to boost their finances and will raise no objection to paid vacation work so long as students keep up with their studies. Students should discuss this with their tutors before taking a job.

3.17.2. Full Term

The heavy workload during term leaves little time for paid work. If you need to carry out a limited amount of paid employment you must seek in advance the permission of your tutor and the Senior Tutor.

3.18. Financial Support for Academic Activities

3.18.1. Vacation Residence and Vacation Study Grants for Undergraduates

Students who need to stay in College accommodation in vacations must apply for Vacation Residence each term; exceptions are when licenses extend through the Christmas and Easter vacations (usually only for third- and fourth-year students). For Vacation Residence arrangements please see Section 8.7.

Students who need to stay in residence in order to take, or revise for, Public Examinations, undertake compulsory vacation courses, or work on assessed essays, projects or dissertations can apply for a subsidy. In 2021-22 this is £10.14 per day, up to a maximum of 21 days per year (this limit can be extended for those who have public examinations in vacations and/or extended terms). Further details and the application form for vacation residence and vacation residence grants can be found on the College's website. Grants will be credited to battels.

The Lord Crewe Finalists' Vacation Grant scheme provides further financial assistance for some students remaining in Oxford to revise during the Easter vacation before their final exams. The number of awards is strictly limited and they are means-tested. Application details can be found on the College website, and are circulated via email early in Hilary Term each year.

3.18.2. Book Scheme for Undergraduates

The College will refund up to £100 towards of the cost of books bought for academic purposes each academic year. Further details and the application form can be found on the College website. You must keep receipts to upload with the application. Grants will be credited to battels.

3.18.3. Financial Support for other Academic Expenses

3.18.3.1. The Senior Tutor's Fund

This fund is maintained by the Annual Fund (see below) and provides grants of up to £200 for proposals directly relating to the individual's exam school (e.g. travel to an archaeological dig, summer placement in a laboratory, language study). The application form can be found on the College website. There is no deadline – applications are accepted all year round - but applications must be made before the expense has been incurred. Retrospective awards cannot be made.

3.18.3.2. Kenneth Sears Travel Grants

The Sears Fund is exclusively for undergraduates reading History or History and Politics or History and Modern Languages. Successful applicants must submit a report and receipts in the first week of term following the trip, or the College will require repayment of the grant. Please see the College website for more details and how to apply.

3.18.3.3. Modern Linguists: Year Abroad and Travel Grants

Modern Linguists on a course which includes a compulsory year abroad are normally expected to spend that year either working or studying in the relevant country/countries. Undergraduates are still liable to pay a fee to the University during their statutory year abroad.

Modern Linguists are eligible for a £200 travel grant. This can be used towards the cost of the year abroad, or for a separate visit to the country whose language is being studied. Only one grant will be made during the course of the degree. Successful applicants must submit a report and receipts in the first week of term following the trip, or the College will require repayment of the grant. Please see the College website for more details and how to apply.

3.18.3.4. General Travel Grants

Grants are available to support travel directly connected to an undergraduates' studies or for travel that has educational or cultural value, or for charitable purposes. Grants are intended to aid travel, not to subsidise living expenses. Successful applicants must submit a report and receipts in the first week of term following the trip, or the College will require repayment of the grant. Please see the College website for more details and how to apply.

3.18.3.5. EPA Grants: Support for Summer Research Placements

Undergraduates studying Chemistry, Biomedical Sciences, Medicine, Physics or Engineering (particularly where there is a connection with the biosciences) can apply for a grant of up to £2,000 to cover the cost of a summer research placement (based on a maximum of £250 per week for 8 weeks). These grants are intended to support students in gaining research experience that will benefit their future careers. Please see the College website for more details and how to apply.

3.18.3.6. The Clifford and Mary Angell Travel Awards

These awards are intended to provide opportunities for travel and education overseas (e.g. exchange programmes, conferences, fieldwork, site visits, summer schools etc.). Please see the College website for more details and how to apply.

3.18.3.7. The Felicity Brown Fund

Established in memory of Felicity Brown, a former medical student at Lincoln, the Fund enables a student to travel and undertake charitable work (that may otherwise have been unaffordable). Clinical medical students are also eligible to apply for this grant to help with travel in their elective period. Please see the College website for more details and how to apply.

3.18.4. Annual Fund Grants: for group projects

The Old Members' Annual Fund is an amount of money set aside each year from donations to the College's Annual Appeal. The Fund supports group projects intended to enhance the life of undergraduate and/or graduate students of the College. A group of Alumni, College Officers and JCR and MCR representatives meet each Hilary Term to consider applications to the Fund. Previous successful applications have included: refurbishment of common rooms; subsidising JCR/MCR yoga classes; purchasing film and recording equipment for the College Film Society; funding the production of an opera by the Lincoln Music Society; providing first aid lessons to those involved in Vac Proj; subsidising a MCR trip to Lincoln Cathedral. Applications for grants (up to a maximum of £2000) are invited in January of each year. Please see the College website for more details and how to apply.

3.18.5. Blues Fund

This fund is supported by the JCR, MCR and the Old Members Trust. It provides support to students in their efforts to achieve a Blue or Half-Blue (that is, representing the University in certain sports). Applications are invited in October and in March of each year. Applicants will have to make a good case to the effect that they have a strong chance of winning a place in a University team and are committed to working to that end. Only Blue and Half-Blue sports are eligible for support. Please see the College website for more details and how to apply.

3.18.6. Vivian Green Student Assistance Fund

If you have a request for funding which falls outside these parameters (for example is not directly linked to College, or to your studies), you might be eligible for funding from the Vivian Green Fund which provides assistance, at the Rector's discretion, for projects of personal development (i.e., not course-related). The fund is open to both graduate and undergraduate students. Previous successful applications have included requests in support of foreign travel of various kinds, artistic activities, wilderness survival training, participation in international youth congress etc. Full details and application forms are circulated each term, the deadline for return being noon on Monday of 2nd week. Successful applicants must submit a report and receipts in the first week of term following the trip, or the College will require repayment of the grant. Please see the College website for more details.

3.19. Applications for Graduate Study

If you are considering graduate study at Oxford or elsewhere you should discuss it with your tutors. Lincoln is usually delighted to continue membership of a student accepted by the University for postgraduate study. Students should pay close attention to the application procedure and timetable at <http://www.ox.ac.uk/admissions/graduate> and remember that they may need to start the process early in Michaelmas Term. Decisions about acceptance are made by the relevant Department/Faculty.

If you are considering returning to Oxford to read for a second final Honours School you must consult the Senior Tutor as soon as possible in Michaelmas Term of your final year.

3.20. Degree ceremonies

Undergraduate and postgraduate taught students will receive an email from the University in Michaelmas term of their final year with information about booking a degree ceremony. For example, if your course finishes in June, July or September 2022, you will be contacted in November 2021. Please see the University website for more information about degree ceremonies.

Details of Lincoln's graduation arrangements can be found on our website. If you have any queries please get in touch with the Rector's PA, Sally Lacey (rectors.office@lincoln.ox.ac.uk).

3.21. University Examination Decrees and Regulations

The University publishes all its decrees and examination regulations on the University website at www.admin.ox.ac.uk/examregs/. This contains full details of the regulations for the various subjects and you must read the section on your own subject.

3.22. The University Student Handbook from the Proctors' Office

The Proctors are senior academics appointed by the University to oversee matters such as examinations, fairness and the behaviour (of Oxford students in the University and the City). The University Student Handbook contains essential information on welfare and health matters, summarises regulations relating to examinations and to the conduct and discipline of members of the University, including Codes of Practice and Procedures covering a variety of matters such as Harassment, Fitness to Study, Equality, Complaints, and Computer Use. It is available on the University website: www.proctors.ox.ac.uk/handbook/handbook.

Post-Graduate Academic Life

4.1. Graduate Study at Lincoln College

Lincoln has an outstanding commitment to graduate study among Oxford Colleges: it was the first to create a Middle Common Room for its graduate students, and has the highest proportion of graduate members among the Colleges that admit both undergraduates and graduates. The College takes pride in maintaining a community of scholarship that provides generously for social and domestic as well as academic needs. The graduate community is very international, and a broad range of subjects and type of course are represented.

Please be aware that various arrangements remain in place this year to ensure that you can learn safely. Please refer regularly to the COVID-19 pages on the College and University websites for the latest information. Here you will find information about the academic arrangements in place this term, including health and safety guidance for teaching, arrangements for remote study and vaccination information. These websites will be updated frequently so it is important that you check them often. Please also consult Appendix C: Requirements for students during the Covid-19 pandemic.

4.2. The nature of postgraduate study in Oxford

The structures of the different higher degrees are more varied than those of the undergraduate programmes. There is a broad division between research and taught degrees, but some are hybrid, and within each category there are many different models.

Broadly speaking, the University (in the shape of your faculty, sub-faculty, department), and not the College, will normally take the lead in facilitating and monitoring your academic progress. If you are involved in research work, the University will do so principally via the supervisor (or supervisors) it has appointed for you, though there will often be other provision such as methodology courses, workshops, or discussion groups. If you are taking a taught course, the University will provide lectures, seminars, or classes, and perhaps also small-group teaching. In both types of programme, however, you are less closely superintended than undergraduates: it is assumed that by this point in your academic career you are able to work relatively autonomously. Your faculty or department will have its own induction arrangements and handbook detailing the arrangements for your particular programme. At the same time, the College will make a substantial contribution to its postgraduate students' academic lives. Needless to say, the College's provision for postgraduate students is governed by its overall commitment to ensuring equal opportunities for all its members.

4.3. Matriculation

All students must attend a matriculation ceremony, which marks your formal admission into the University of Oxford. Exceptions are certain visiting students and those who have already matriculated at the University of Cambridge or Trinity College Dublin. It is therefore essential that you matriculate with your peers on Saturday of 1st week. Make sure you read the various notices and emails about the date, time and the sub-fusc dress code.

4.4. Registration

You must register on-line via Student Self-Service at the beginning of each academic year - you will be sent notification and instructions when it is due. Registration confirms that the University has correct information about you and that you are returning to continue your studies.

4.5. Academic Dress

This is also known as sub-fusc, and means a gown, mortar board or soft cap, and your preferred option of the following:

- dark suit with dark socks;
- dark skirt with black tights; or
- dark trousers with dark socks.

This should be worn with a plain white, collared, shirt or blouse, with either a white bow tie, black bow tie, black full-length tie, or a black ribbon. Shoes must be black, and a dark coat can be worn if required. Anyone incorrectly dressed could be turned away by University officials, with dire consequences if you then miss the matriculation ceremony or exam.

4.6. Exam Entry and Timetables

In order that you are entered for the correct examinations you need to complete an online entry form via the Student Self-Service website indicating which options you are taking. You will be sent an email invitation from the University's Examination Schools instructing you to make your selections by a given date – do stick to this timetable as the University will fine you for late submissions. There is also a fee if you decide to change an option later.

Please see www.ox.ac.uk/students/academic/exams/timetables where you can find the provisional start dates for your exams and the due date for your exam entry form. Your final examination timetable will be emailed to you by the Examination Schools at least two weeks before the date of your first examination.

4.7. Religious Festivals, Religious Fasting and Examinations

If, for reasons of faith, you are forbidden from taking papers on religious festivals or other special days which may coincide with days on which examinations are set, or you are likely to be fasting on those days, you may apply to the Proctors, through the Senior Tutor, for approval of alternative examination arrangements. This application must be made as soon as possible after matriculation and you need to specify your faith and the details of any days specially affected. Please consult the full regulations on the examination regulations. You can ask the Academic Registrar for advice before making an application.

4.8. College Advisor Scheme

All postgraduate students are allocated a College Advisor in Lincoln in the same, or a related, field. Your Advisor does not have the same role as your Supervisor or Course Teacher and is not intended to replace them, but is there to provide additional support with any problems or questions that you may have, which may have an academic aspect. For instance, you may wish to seek advice from your Advisor on academic-related matters such as applications for research funding, conferences and seminar attendance, publication and career plans. You may also wish to consult your Advisor if you have any concerns about any aspect of your University supervision or teaching. Do make contact with your Advisor as soon as you can on arrival in Michaelmas Term. In the course of your first year at Lincoln, you will also have the chance to make social contact with your Advisor at specially organised graduate lunches, which take place during Hilary Term.

4.9. Other sources of College support for Postgraduate students

The Senior Tutor is also Tutor for Graduates and is happy to talk to graduate students on any matter, particularly if you are having problems with your work for academic, medical or personal reasons. You can arrange to see her through the Academic Registrar or the Graduate Officer. See also Section 6: Student Support.

The Graduate Officer is also available to offer advice on administrative aspects of your course. All University Forms for transfer of status, appointment of examiners, suspension of status, extensions etc. should be passed to the Graduate Officer who will ensure that they are signed by the Tutor for Graduates.

The Chaplain and Student Welfare Co-ordinator, and the Student Support Advisor, are both available to speak in confidence to College members at any time, on any matter.

4.10. Monitoring of Progress

4.10.1. Reports

As well as discussing your progress with you directly, your Supervisor will write termly reports. Reporting is made online through GSR (Graduate Supervision Reporting), which can be accessed via Student Self Service. The reporting process begins with you uploading your own self-report, to which your supervisor responds and add their own assessment of the term's progress. These reports will be read by your College Advisor and the Tutor for Graduates so that they can help you to review your progress over the course of the year. You are invited to submit a self-assessment each term through the student self-service portal this site and will receive an email from the University telling you when to do so.

4.10.2. Rector's Collections

Once a year, all students meet with the Rector, Tutor for Graduates and their Advisor for Rector's Collections in order to discuss your supervisor's reports and your progress. This is a formal meeting and you should wear your gown. You will be told your time slot about a week beforehand. Collections for taught courses students take place in Hilary Term, those for research students in Trinity Term. If the given time clashes with academic commitments let the Graduate Officer know and she will try to change the slot, but this may not be possible. It is very important that students attend Rector's Collections.

4.10.3. Academic Discipline

In the event of continuing unsatisfactory work, the College, in consultation with the relevant faculty or department, may require a graduate to suspend status. Any graduate is welcome to discuss problems with the Tutor for Graduates and/or their Graduate Advisor.

4.10.4. Plagiarism

Plagiarism is wrongfully presenting another person's work or ideas as your own, often through failure to acknowledge sources by citation and referencing. The University's web page on plagiarism provides the following definition:

Plagiarism is presenting someone else's work or ideas as your own, with or without their consent, by incorporating it into your work without full acknowledgement. All published and unpublished material, whether in manuscript, printed or electronic form, is covered under this definition. Plagiarism may be intentional or reckless, or unintentional. Under the regulations for examinations, intentional or reckless plagiarism is a disciplinary offence.*

*Please note that this includes non-text media, such as podcast lectures and television programmes.

If plagiarism is suspected in tutorial essays, problem sheets, vacation essays, collections, or other form of work required by College tutors, there will be an investigation under the College's Academic Discipline and Support procedure (see 3.15, below). If you are in any doubt about the correct procedures for acknowledging the contributions made by other people's ideas to your own work, your tutors can provide help and guidance. You will also find guidance on the University' website, and a link to an online course.

If plagiarism is suspected in a piece of work submitted to the University for examination there will be a full investigation by the Proctors, which may result in severe penalties if proved - read section 7.7 Plagiarism in The University Student Handbook.

4.11. Exceptional Circumstances

4.11.1. Extensions/Suspension

Extensions of time for research students or permission to suspend status are only granted in exceptional circumstances such as serious ill-health and must have the support of your supervisor and department/faculty. Any students thinking about suspending status should talk to their Supervisor and to the Senior Tutor as early as possible.

4.11.2. Problems completing assessments

You may become ill, or experience some other major disruption ('illness or other urgent cause that is unforeseeable, unavoidable and/or insurmountable' in official University parlance) while preparing for or completing University assessments (including exams, essays, dissertations and projects). There are a number of processes to support you in these circumstances.

If, in the case of submitted essays, dissertations or projects, you are unable to meet the published deadline, please contact the Academic Registrar in the first instance for advice. There is detailed information on the University website on when and how to apply for extensions of time for submitted work. Applications are usually made by the College to the Proctors on your behalf, and require supporting evidence (such as medical note in the case of illness).

If you are too unwell to sit a University examination please contact the Academic Registrar immediately. It may be possible for you to sit the paper in College later that day if arrangements are put in place quickly. Keep the College Office phone numbers (01865 279801 / 287347) handy during the exam period. If it isn't possible to take the examination, you can apply to the Proctors for an excusal. There is more information on the University website about the process of applying for excusal. Again, applications come from the College, and require supporting evidence.

If you are able to complete your assessment, but feel that your performance was significantly affected by factors beyond your control either during or before the assessment, you can submit a Mitigating Circumstances Notice to Examiners. The MCE goes to the Exam Board who decide your classification for that part of the degree. There is information about the process and possible outcomes on the University website. You can seek advice from the Student Support Advisor about making an application, which are made via Student Self Service. MCEs must be submitted before the Exam Board meets, or they may not be considered.

4.12. Financial Support for Academic Activities

4.12.1. Graduate Research Fund

The College has a fund to assist fee-paying graduate students with their research, specifically travel for research purposes. More details and the application form can be found on the College website.

4.12.2. Book Scheme for Postgraduate students

Please refer to the website for more information and the application form.

4.12.3. Annual Fund Grants: for group projects

The Old Members' Annual Fund is an amount of money set aside each year from donations to the College's Annual Appeal. The Fund supports group projects intended to enhance the life of undergraduate and/or graduate students of the College. A group of Alumni, College Officers and JCR and MCR representatives meet each Hilary Term to consider applications to the Fund. Previous successful applications have included: refurbishment of common rooms; subsidising JCR/MCR yoga classes; purchasing film and recording equipment for the College Film Society; funding the production of an opera by the Lincoln Music Society; providing first aid lessons to those involved in Vac Proj; subsidising a MCR trip to Lincoln Cathedral. Applications for grants (up to a maximum of £2000) are invited in January of each year. Please see the College website for more information and the application form.

4.12.4. Blues Fund

This fund is supported by the JCR, MCR and the Old Members Trust. It provides support to students in their efforts to achieve a Blue or Half-Blue (that is, representing the University in certain sports). Applications are invited in October and in March of each year. Applicants will have to make a good case to the effect that they have a strong chance of winning a place in a University team and are committed to working to that end. Only Blue and Half-Blue sports are eligible for support. For further details and an application form see the College website.

4.12.5. Vivian Green Student Assistance Fund

If you have a request for funding which falls outside these parameters (for example is not directly linked to College, or to your studies), you might be eligible for funding from the Vivian Green Fund which provides assistance, at the Rector's discretion, for projects of personal development (i.e., not course-related). The fund is open to both graduate and undergraduate students. Previous successful applications have included requests in support of foreign travel of various kinds, artistic activities, wilderness survival training, participation in international youth congress etc. Full details and application forms are circulated each term, the deadline for return being noon on Monday of 2nd week. Successful applicants must submit a report and receipts in the first week of term following the trip, or the College will require repayment of the grant. Please see the College website for more details and an application form.

4.12.6. College Awards, Prizes and Scholarships for Postgraduate students

The College offers a number of scholarships, prizes and awards to graduates, both on admission and at later stages in their career. Further details concerning all college awards and the application process are available on the College website.

4.13. Graduate Feedback Form

In Hilary Term you will have the chance to complete a Graduate Feedback Questionnaire to give the College feedback on various aspects of your experience as a graduate student. Issues raised by the results of the Questionnaire will be considered at the Senior Tutor's Committee.

4.14. Degree Ceremonies

Undergraduate and postgraduate taught students will receive an email from the University in Michaelmas term of their final year with information about booking a degree ceremony. For example, if your course finishes in June, July or September 2022, you will be contacted in November 2021. Postgraduate research students will receive information about booking a ceremony on receipt of leave to supplicate. Please see the University website for more information about degree ceremonies.

Details of Lincoln's graduation arrangements can be found on our website. If you have any queries please get in touch with the Rector's PA, Sally Lacey (rectors.office@lincoln.ox.ac.uk).

4.15. University Examination Decrees and Regulations

The University publishes all its decrees and examination regulations on the University website at www.admin.ox.ac.uk/examregs/. This contains full details of the regulations for the various advanced degrees of the University and you must read the section on your own subject.

4.16. The University Student Handbook

The Proctors are senior academics appointed by the University to oversee matters such as examinations, fairness and the behaviour (or misbehaviour) of Oxford students in the University and the City. The University Student Handbook contains essential information on welfare and health matters, summarises regulations relating to examinations and to the conduct and discipline of members of the University, including Codes of Practice and Procedures covering a variety of matters such as Harassment, Fitness to Study, Equality, Complaints, and Computer Use. It is available on the University website: www.proctors.ox.ac.uk/handbook/handbook.

5.2. College IT

5.2.1. IT Rooms

There are three IT rooms specifically for the use of students at Lincoln: one for the JCR and one for the MCR on the main site and another at the EPA Science Centre. The JCR room is located on the first floor of Lincoln House and the MCR room is located in the Bear Lane complex. All rooms contain PCs loaded with Microsoft Office and other general-purpose software linked to a central server along with networked laser printers. All students will automatically be allocated an account on the system. Please note that although the server-held data is regularly archived this is not a guaranteed service, so you must consider yourself responsible for ensuring that your important data is backed up on other media. Eating, drinking and smoking are not permitted within the IT rooms and loading of any software onto shared PCs is strictly forbidden.

Paper for the printers may be collected from the College Office or Porters Lodge.

Student Support

6.1.1 Accessing Support When You Need It

We would like every member of college to be happy, fulfilled, and productive during their time in Oxford. The reality, of course, is that we are all human, and will experience difficulties from time to time. Sometimes these are caused by external events, sometimes they arise from within, but whatever your situation, there are lots of people in College who are there to listen to you, and to help and support you.

If you are feeling overwhelmed by your academic work, or if you feel that personal difficulties affecting your work, then it is usually best to start by speaking to your tutor, if you feel comfortable doing so. Raising any problem early on is the best way to reach a solution, or to arrange to accommodate any specific needs.

Whether or not you speak to your tutor, you can take any difficulty, worry or problem to the Chaplain, who is also the Student Welfare Co-ordinator. He is available to all students to listen on any subject, and as well as providing a listening ear he can direct you to the help you might need. He is completely non-judgmental and won't ever talk about religion unless you ask him to. His title is the Rev'd. Andrew Shamel, but everyone just calls him Andy. The Student Support Advisor, Lisa Stokes-King, works closely with Andy and also provides advice and guidance on student welfare matters. The Student Support Advisor is also the College's Disability Co-ordinator, and is the first point for contact for students with disabilities to discuss support and adjustments.

6.1.2 College Welfare Team

After individual subject tutors, who all have a pastoral role, there is a wide range of people to whom you may turn for help, support and advice. Andy shares primary responsibility for student welfare with the College Nurse (Victoria Mills), the Welfare Dean (Dr Lucy Wooding), the Senior Dean (Dr Paul Stavrinou), and the Senior Tutor (Dr Lydia Matthews). The Chaplain, the Nurse and the Student Support Advisor are the primary points of welfare support, but any one of these College officers, or subject tutors, or graduate advisors, can be approached with a welfare concern. They will be happy to listen and advise whether your concerns are for your own welfare or that of a friend or colleague.

The College Doctors (Dr Naomi Drury and Dr Marykate Kirkaldy) and the Junior Deans (Paul Stephens and Jelani Munroe) also play an important role, as do the College Harassment Advisors (Dr Alexander Prescott-Couch and Dr Jody LaPorte). The JCR and MCR Welfare Officers and Peer Supporters are available to listen and support. Further information about the peer support system at Lincoln may be found on the JCR and MCR websites www.lincolncollegejcr.co.uk or <http://lincolnmcr.weebly.com/>.

Fellows, members of staff and students may approach any of these people with any concerns that they may have about the welfare of junior members of the College. In addition, College Graduate Advisers are available to members of the MCR.

6.1.3 Confidentiality

All members of the Welfare Team work according to the University's Code of Practice on Confidentiality. They are not required to maintain absolute confidentiality, and may at their discretion share information within the Welfare Team, but they will normally not pass on information elsewhere without permission to do so. If they believe that there is a risk that an individual may harm themselves or another person, then they may be forced to break confidentiality. Even in these (rare) circumstances, information will be shared only on a strict 'need to know' basis, preserving strict confidentiality in relation to other third parties.

The University's Code of Practice on Confidentiality is available on the website on the College website.

6.1.4 PREVENT duty

The College is obliged by law to refer welfare cases to the central university where there is a concern under our PREVENT duty. This is in keeping with our wider welfare policy of not guaranteeing confidentiality in cases where there is a perceived risk of serious harm. For further details on the College's PREVENT policies, please see the College's policy on Freedom of Speech on the College website. This should present no cause for alarm. The Chaplain and Student Welfare Coordinator will be happy to discuss it with anyone who has concerns.

6.1.5. College Doctors

The College Doctors are members of the College Welfare Team and are happy to see students who have concerns about their own well-being, whether physical or mental. Sometimes it may be appropriate for Fellows or staff to refer individuals directly to them for support. The Practice is situated in King Edward Street, only a few minutes from the College Lodge. You can find their website at kingedwardstreetsurgery.co.uk. See section 6.3 below for further details. Doctors will not disclose any of your details to anyone in College without your permission.

6.1.6. University Counselling Service

Students are also able to make use of the University Counselling Service. Students may self-refer, without consulting anyone. You may also wish to talk it over with someone in College first. More information on the services they offer are available from their website here: <http://www.ox.ac.uk/students/welfare/counselling>.

6.1.7. Online resources and other sources of information

Useful information is also available on the Student Health and Welfare Section of the University website (<http://www.ox.ac.uk/students/welfare>) on the website of the College Doctors (<https://www.kingedwardst.nhs.uk>) and on the welfare pages of Oxford University Student Union (<https://www.oxfordsu.org/wellbeing/student-advice>).

6.2 Students with Disabilities

6.2.1. General

The College has an Equal Opportunities Policy (see Section 6.6) under the terms of which the College is committed to using its best endeavours to ensure that all of its activities are governed by principles of equality of opportunity, and that all students are helped to achieve their full academic potential. The College welcomes applications from students with disabilities and is committed to supporting them in their study at Lincoln.

All the Colleges and the University have jointly agreed a Common Framework for Supporting Disabled Students: www.admin.ox.ac.uk/aad/swss/disability.

Each College and Academic Department/Faculty will have a Disability Lead (for oversight and strategy) and a Disability Co-ordinator (for day to day support and liaison). At Lincoln these roles are filled by the Senior Tutor (Lead) and the Student Support Advisor (Co-ordinator). They will make arrangements for any recommended examination adjustments or study support for undergraduates, in conjunction with the University's central Disability Advisory Service (which can be contacted on 01865 280459). Graduate students are supported in this by their Departmental Leads and Co-ordinators.

The Senior Tutor and Student Support Advisor also work closely with the Domestic Operations Manager, who can advise on domestic arrangements and physical/access matters in College for all students. They are all happy to discuss any extra support which students with disabilities might need, and which can reasonably be provided. All students with disabilities in the College receive an enhanced annual printing subsidy – £100 for undergraduate students and £200 for graduate students.

6.2.2. Dyslexia/Dyspraxia

The Student Support Advisor is the initial point of contact to discuss either of the above and refer you to the Disability Advisory Service for assessment or reassessment if necessary. She will request alternative examination arrangements, if required, from the Proctors.

6.3. Medical Arrangements

6.3.1 The College Doctors and Nurse

The College requires all students to register with a doctor in Oxford, preferably with the College doctors at the King Edward Street Surgery (phone 01865 242657). Most students do this before they arrive. If you register with another doctor you should inform the Nurse and the Academic Registrar. The King Edward Street surgery is open from 8am to 6pm, and you should ring for an appointment (except emergencies).

The College Nurse, Victoria Mills, can be consulted by prior appointment via Teams in weeks 0-9 at the following times:

Monday and Friday: 9.30am - 12.00pm
Tuesday and Thursday: 12.00pm - 2.30pm

Victoria is available to offer a wide range of support and advice, including mental health support and assistance, and is an invaluable resource for other areas of available support in the university.

Students living in College accommodation who are confined to bed by illness should let the Lodge know by 9.30 am. The Lodge (01865 279800) should also be contacted in case of accident or sudden illness and the Porter will call for the doctor or nurse. In emergencies, an ambulance should of course be called straight away, but the Lodge should also be informed so that the relevant College Officers can be made aware.

6.3.2 Overseas Students and Medical Care

Free treatment is available to all overseas students who come to this country for a course lasting more than six months, and who have paid the immigration health surcharge as part of their Visa application. Overseas students will be treated as ordinarily resident and will not have to pay for hospital treatment (i.e. be treated under the National Health Service (NHS)). However, students with pre-existing conditions which may require hospital care may not always be covered.

There is a fixed charge for prescription medicines, currently £9.35 per item.

Specialist treatment: all referrals to specialists must be made by a General Practitioner (GP) - your doctor in Oxford. Serious illnesses are always treated quickly under the NHS. However, non-emergency appointments to see a specialist under the NHS may be very slow. Students may instead opt to see a specialist privately, but this is usually expensive.

More details about overseas students' entitlement to NHS care can be found at www.ox.ac.uk/students/new/international?wssl=1.

Chiropractors, complementary therapists, osteopaths and physiotherapists are all available privately at various costs (no GP referral necessary).

6.3.3. Dentistry

Lincoln College students can register with Damira Dental, the dental practice at Oxford Brookes University, phone 01865 689 997. This practice offers NHS dental care. Please note that for most students NHS dental care is not free, but it is moderately priced. For information on possible exemptions from charges see the Damira website. Students may also register with a private dental practice of their choice, although treatment here will be more expensive.

6.3.4 First Aid in College

Several members of staff are qualified in First Aid. When the College Nurse is not on duty, please contact the Lodge (279800) for help.

6.4. Other Sources of Support in the University

Hopefully, the combination of forms of support and medical help outlined above will be enough for your needs while at Lincoln. If you feel that you need any support or counselling from outside the College, then you can contact Nightline on Oxford (2)70270, or Samaritans on Oxford 722122. You can also approach the University Counselling Service directly on Oxford 270300. Below are the main phone numbers which you might need in your time at Lincoln.

6.5. Sex

Sex is obviously a deeply personal matter, but do remember the simple advice not to feel pressured into anything with which you are uncomfortable. The doctor and nurse can provide advice about safe sex and contraception. The JCR and MCR Welfare Officers can also supply condoms discreetly on request. The Chaplain is happy to discuss sexual matters and all aspects of personal relationships in confidence. The College has a code covering sexual harassment, which you can find on the College website at <https://lincoln.ox.ac.uk/asset/harassment-policy.pdf>.

6.6 Sexual Violence

Comprehensive and up to date information detailing the resources available within Oxford for responding to sexual assault can be found at the Oxford Against Sexual Violence website,

Someone who has experienced rape or a sexual assault may be ready to report it to the police straight away. However, if a student has not yet decided whether to make a complaint, it is possible for that individual to go directly to a Sexual Assault Referral Centre (SARC) which provides medical help, support and advice and collects forensic evidence. The College offers an anonymous and free service to all members of the College who wish to access the nearest Sexual Assault Referral Centre to Oxford. The nearest SARCs to Oxford are:

A taxi will then be booked to take him/her to the SARC Centre and to wait to bring them back. They are able to take a friend or welfare officer to support them or to go alone. College will cover the cost of the taxi – there is no need to pay anything to the driver.

6.7. Equal Opportunities

It is the College's policy to treat all of its members in the same way, regardless of their sex, sexual orientation, gender reassignment, age, disability, race, ethnic origin, religion or belief. The College's Single Equality Scheme can be found on the College website.

6.8. Harassment and Bullying

Lincoln College is committed to providing an environment in which all are treated with dignity and respect; and in which they can work and study free from any type of discrimination, harassment, or victimisation. Harassment is a serious offence which is punishable under the College's disciplinary procedures. The full policy statement and code of practice can be read on the College website. If at any time you feel that you are being bullied or harassed, whether by another student, by a tutor, or by a member of staff, you can call upon one of the College's Harassment Advisors for advice and assistance. The current Advisors are Dr Jody LaPorte (Tutor in Politics) and Alexander Prescott-Couch (Tutor in Philosophy). Further description of the help available is contained in the policy document on our website. You can also approach the College welfare personnel detailed above to discuss the situation and your feelings about it.

Money Matters

This section of the Handbook is about your financial dealings with the College. As a member of the College community you have certain financial obligations to the College, as does the College to you. The College undertakes to deal with you professionally and courteously, and you are expected to deal with the College in a responsible and timely manner.

The College officers and staff primarily concerned with the issues covered in this section are the Bursar, the Bursar's Secretary, the College Accountant and the staff in the Accounts Department (all to be found in staircase 4).

7.1. College Invoice

Student members of College are sent an invoice at the beginning of each term and once during the summer in cases where there are charges outstanding. The invoice typically covers items that fall under Tuition Fees and Domestic Charges (battels). Any students staying in accommodation over the summer will receive a vacation residence invoice towards the end of Trinity. This is separate from the final battels charge and must be paid before the date the vacation residence begins.

7.1.1. Tuition fees

Tuition fees collected by the College on behalf of the University. Payment for tuition is due at the beginning of Michaelmas term. Any alternative arrangement will be by agreement with the Bursar.

Fees vary between courses and due to individual student circumstances, so it is not possible to provide exact figures here. Some of the fees due may be paid by a third party, such as Student Finance England or a Research Council. However, it is the student's responsibility to ensure that arrangements are in place for the payment of fees when they become due, and to make sure the Bursary has documentary evidence of these payment arrangements.

Battels items include:

- Accommodation charge (includes gas, water and electricity), payable in advance;
- Kitchen charge (provides credit against meals purchased that term); See also 8.4
- Room contents insurance – see Section 9.4;
- Membership of the Lincoln Society - a one-off payment of £10;
- Charges collected by the College at the request of Junior and Middle Common Rooms in order to fund some of their activities (such as finalists' celebrations and punt hire). Queries about these charges, including opting out, should be directed to the JCR or MCR President;
- Any payment due for damage to College property in the previous term.

Freshers also pay a £400 deposit which is returned at the completion of your studies, provided you are not liable for damage to College property.

International students should claim a refund of their deposit before closing their UK bank accounts. A charge of £20 is deducted from the deposit for International payments.

7.1.3. Continuation Charges for Graduate Research Students

The DPhil, MLitt, MSc (by research), EngD, MSt Legal Research, MSt Socio-legal Research, MPhil Law are all considered research programmes. If the standard period of fee liability is exceeded, termly continuation charges will apply for all graduate students in these programmes.

The University continuation charge is currently set at £528 per term and the College continuation charge is currently £132 per term. This will apply to all students (regardless of Home or Overseas fee status). Some, but not all, departments have arrangements for limited waivers of the University Continuation charge. Further information is available on the University's Continuation Charge page at <http://www.ox.ac.uk/students/fees-funding/fees/liability/graduate-continuation-charge>.

A College continuation charge will be applied to all graduate students liable for the University's Graduate Continuation Charge, but, for the first three terms of such liability, such students, provided they are not enrolled on a four-year Doctoral Training Course programme, will receive an automatic waiver from the College.

7.2. Payment of battels

Freshers will be emailed their invoices during 0th week of their first term. Full payment is due by 4pm on Friday of 0th week. Subsequent invoices are sent via email at the beginning of each term.

Payments should be made to the Accounts Office via the link: <https://lincbattelsnew.linc.ox.ac.uk/battels>.

Methods of payment are as follows:

- Cash (up to a maximum of £50);
- Debit card drawn on a UK sterling bank account;
- Credit card;
- Wire transfer from another bank (may be subject to additional charges by the bank(s) and there may be a shortfall due to exchange rate fluctuations). Please ensure your name is included in the transfer instructions;
- Via <https://lincoln.paytostudy.com>: students paying their battels from an international account may wish to use this service offering competitive exchange rates. It ensures we receive payment of the full amount outstanding and no hidden charges are deducted by the banks.

The College's bank details are as follows:

Account Name:	Lincoln College, Oxford
Bank Name:	Lloyds Bank Plc
Branch:	1-5 High Street, Oxford
Sort Code:	30-96-35
Account Number:	01399296
IBAN:	GB58LOYD30963501399296
SWIFT CODE:	LOYDGB21023

Important: Please quote your name on any transaction

If for any reason you cannot pay your battels by the due date you must contact the Bursar in advance. Failure to contact the Bursar to make such arrangements is taken to imply unwillingness, rather than inability, to pay. This could result in the following sanctions being taken against you for non-payment.

- Your name will appear on the default list which is presented to the Governing Body. Defaulters may not
 - attend special College dinners or functions, nor book College rooms for guests or functions;
 - access College computing facilities;
 - expect assistance from the College in dealing with third parties (e.g. references for landlords or banks etc.);
 - return into residence until the debt (including any penalty) has been paid. In such cases future rights to College accommodation may be restricted.

If action of this sort is taken against you for non-payment of battels, and you believe you have been treated unfairly, you may invoke the College's procedure for Complaints and Appeals.

7.3. Complaints and Appeals

It is always hoped that disagreements between College officers/staff and students can be settled amicably and in accordance with regular procedures. Where disagreements do not allow easy resolution, the College has a procedure for the hearing of complaints with a view to resolving matters quickly and to the satisfaction of all concerned. The Complaints and Appeals Procedure is set out in the College By-law VI:P which is reproduced in full as Appendix 2 of this handbook. It is intended to be followed where there are disagreements regarding:

- Domestic matters (i.e. accommodation, including allocation of rooms and catering);
- Financial matters (i.e. battels for fees and domestic charges);
- Distribution of hardship funds;
- Complaints against College staff;
- Disciplinary decisions;
- Academic Disciplinary decisions;

If you wish to appeal against a determination of the Governing Body, you may do so to the Appeal Tribunal of the Conference of Colleges, of which Lincoln is a member. You should file such an appeal with the secretariat of the Conference of Colleges within five days of the Appeal Committee's or Governing Body's determination.

In the case that the Junior Member is not satisfied by the ruling of the Appeal Tribunal of the Conference of Colleges, he or she may submit a claim to the Office of the Independent Adjudicator (OIA) within three months of the Tribunal having issued the required Completion of Issues letter. Further details concerning the operation of the Independent Scheme for the review of student complaints provided by the OIA may be found on the OIA website at: <http://www.oiahe.org.uk> or by contacting enquiries@oiahe.org.uk.

7.4. Financial Hardship

The College realises that some students do, for quite genuine reasons, experience financial hardship during their College career. There are a number of sources of financial assistance for these students, some of which are at the discretion of the College while others are distributed by the University. Application forms are available on the College website or from the Bursar's Secretary. University Hardship Fund deadlines are usually set in the early weeks of each term.

Hardship funds are available to postgraduates and undergraduates, overseas and Home students. However, UK government policy means that a wider range of funds is available to Home students. None of these funds is unlimited and assistance must be distributed fairly. Unforeseen hardship is prioritised when allocating funds and so students should not build an expectation of receiving hardship funds into their financial planning.

Applications for support from the College's Hardship Funds should be submitted to the Bursar's Secretary and will be considered by the Student Support and Hardship Panel (a small panel consisting of the Bursar, Chaplain, Senior Tutor and the Development Director). This panel generally meets three times each term to consider applications but applications requiring an urgent response will be considered outside the normal schedule.

Any student experiencing financial difficulties, or just needing advice, should make an appointment to see the Bursar or the Senior Tutor in the first instance. The College may be able to help you more sympathetically than a bank or other outside source of finance.

Please also consult the College Website for more information and an application form.

7.5. Undertaking paid work for the College

Each year some student members of College undertake paid work for the College, for example in the College's Development Office on fundraising projects or in Deep Hall. Rates of pay are determined by the Bursary, and payment is made through the College's payroll system on or around the 25th of each month. Students should note that it is the College's policy to withhold payment for work done against any outstanding batters obligations. Students will need to meet relevant 'right to work' criteria.

Domestic Arrangements

*Please be aware that certain alternative Domestic arrangements may need to be put in place this year, to ensure that the College remains safe and secure for all its members, and complies with existing Government guidelines. Please refer regularly to the following pages on the College and University websites: <https://lincoln.ox.ac.uk/current-students/covid-19> and <https://www.ox.ac.uk/coronavirus/students>. Here you will find FAQs and information about any special arrangements in place during the COVID-19 pandemic. Information contained on these websites will supercede some of the information contained in this section of the Handbook. These websites will be updated frequently so it is important that you check them often. Please also see Appendix 3: Requirements for students during the Covid-19 pandemic ****

The College's domestic operations are comprised of the following departments:

- Accommodation
- Catering (Kitchen, Buttery & Hall)
- Conferences & Events
- Deep Hall
- Domestic Bursary
- Housekeeping
- Gardens
- Lodge & security
- Maintenance

Each of these departments has its own department head. The Domestic Operations Manager oversees all of the domestic operations. Any questions on domestic matters should be directed to the relevant department head or the Domestic Operations Manager. Their contact details are listed on the College website.

Students are expected to familiarise themselves with all of the information in this Handbook. However, for easy reference they key points in this section are listed below.

ACCOMMODATION

- It is essential that you read the Accommodation License Agreement as it covers both your obligations to the College and the level of provision the College aims to supply to you.
- You must give three months' notice if you intend to vacate your room before the date specified on your license agreement.
- There are two types of accommodation plans: "In College" (generally first and second year undergraduates) and "Out of College" (generally all others) – see section 8.1.4 for more details.

- Students living on the main College site will be asked to vacate their rooms on the day & night of the College ball.
- Undergraduates can return to College residence from Sunday of 0th week of each term.
- First year students must live in College accommodation; permission is required for 2-4 year undergraduates who wish to live outside College accommodation.

- Do not use blu-tac, tape, or other fixatives on the walls of College bedrooms.
- Cooking (other than boiling kettles) is not permitted in College bedrooms.

- Overnight guests must be signed in on-line at <https://lincoln.ox.ac.uk/current-students/overnight-guests> and mustn't exceed 3 nights in any 10.
- Because of very limited available space, out-of-term storage is only available for international students.

MAINTENANCE

- Do not try to fix items that have malfunctioned in your room or common areas.
- Report maintenance issues online via <http://lincmaintenance.linc.ox.ac.uk:8123/>.

CLEANING

- College cleaning staff are known as Scouts, and they clean communal areas, bathrooms and kitchens on a regular basis.
- You are expected to do your part to keep your room clean; vacuum cleaners are provided for students to use.

CATERING

- All students must pay in full the non-refundable catering charge providing credit towards meals in Hall and Deep Hall at the beginning of each term. Unspent credit can be carried over from term to term within an academic year but not from one academic year to the next.
- Details of meals in Hall including meal times, style of service and number of guests allowed are on the College website.

- Section 8.6.1 lists recycling points available around College.

8.1. Accommodation

Lincoln College follows the Universities UK approved code of practice (ACOP) for student accommodation. This sets out basic standards for student accommodation in Higher Education Institutions such as the Oxford Colleges. You can find out more information by going to Universities UK code of practice website <https://www.thesac.org.uk/>.

Any questions or concerns about student accommodation should be raised with the Accommodation Services Manager.

8.1.1. Undergraduate Student Accommodation

First year undergraduates are allocated rooms in and around the central College site. Rooms are allocated at random. Most first year rooms have en-suite facilities. All first year rooms are charged at the same rent, even though there are marked differences in the size and quality. This policy reflects students' concerns that differences in the prices of College accommodation would erode the egalitarian spirit that is such a strong feature of the College community.

Second, third and fourth year undergraduates are accommodated in the following sites: The Turl Street Mitre, High Street, Bear Lane, Lincoln Hall (Museum Road), St. John Street, and the Lincoln Graduate Centre (Little Clarendon Street). Fourth years live in graduate accommodation, and room charges are based on room grade (see next section).

8.1.2. Post-graduate Student Accommodation

Accommodation for graduate students is provided in Bear Lane, the Lincoln EPA Science Centre, Little Clarendon Street, and Divinity Road. Accommodation can usually be provided for most first-year graduate students and some students in their second and subsequent years.

The College's graduate rooms are graded on the basis of criteria which include room size and quality of facilities. These grades have been agreed by MCR representatives. Charges for accommodation vary according to grade of room.

Lincoln does not currently offer partnered or family accommodation.

8.1.3. Accommodation Ballots

Accommodation for all students except freshers is determined by a ballot organised by either the JCR or MCR (depending on whether the student is an undergraduate or graduate). The Accommodation Services Manager oversees these ballots and may very occasionally intervene in the allocation process. However, for the most part the operation of the ballot is left to the JCR or MCR Executive, to whom questions or complaints should be addressed in the first instance. It is your responsibility to ensure that you have been allocated a room should you require one. Rooms that have been reserved in the ballot and are cancelled later than 8th week of Trinity term are subject to a loss of College deposit.

Students who have specific accommodation requirements on medical, disability, religious, or other grounds can apply for special consideration rather than enter the ballot. The Chaplain, Senior Dean, and Senior Tutor assess each of these applications. Information about how to apply is circulated each year.

8.1.4. Accommodation Agreement

All students sign an accommodation license agreement prior to arrival which sets out the terms under which accommodation is offered. It is essential that you read it as it covers your obligations to the College and also the level of provision the College aims to supply to you.

You must give three months' notice if you intend to vacate your room ahead of schedule. Make sure you hand your key and/or fob in when you go down or the College may assume you are in residence and charge you.

There are two types of accommodation plans, 'In College' and 'Out of College'. The 'In College' plan allows for just over 25 weeks in residence (i.e. three full terms plus a few days on either side). Generally first and second year undergraduates will be on this plan.

Third and fourth year undergraduates and all graduate students, are on the 'Out of College' plan. At most locations this plan allows for 37 weeks in residence (i.e. three full terms plus Christmas and Easter vacations).

Check out time is always 10am. Students on the 'In College' plan must vacate their rooms by 10am on the Saturday of 8th week in Michaelmas and Hilary Terms, unless they have applied for vacation residence (see 8.1.13 below). All students must vacate their rooms by 10am on Sunday of 9th week in Trinity Term. When rooms are vacated all personal belongings must be removed and all rubbish taken away.

Under the license agreement, students living on the main College site will be asked to vacate their rooms on the night the College ball is held (once every 2 years).

Accommodation charges for 2021-2022 can be found in Appendix 1.

8.1.5. Living Out of College

Undergraduates (but not first years) may live outside College accommodation with the permission of the Rector. Requests must be submitted (via the Rector's PA, Mrs Lacey) no later than the end of 6th week of the preceding term and should be supported in writing by your tutor. The Senior Dean and Senior Tutor will be consulted. Undergraduates must live within six miles of Carfax.

Graduate students do not need permission to live out of College, and must live within twenty-five miles of Carfax.

All students living out of College must keep the College Office up to date with their contact details.

For assistance in finding accommodation contact the University's Graduate Accommodation Office: <http://www.admin.ox.ac.uk/graduateaccommodation/>.

8.1.6 Use of College bedrooms and facilities

The College has regulations and guidelines for the use of its rooms and facilities. These may seem unnecessarily detailed but are designed to preserve and enhance the College community. The following is a list of what the College does and does not provide in student bedrooms. College furniture and fittings should not be removed from rooms.

The College provides:	The College DOES NOT provide:
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Bed • Mattress • Wardrobe • Desk • Desk chair • Easy chair (if space allows) • Bookcase (if space allows) • Waste bin • Drawers/shelving • Pin board • Fire retardant curtains or blinds • Computer points 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Bedding • Towels • Desk lamps • Telephone lines • Refrigerators (see below) • Fans

Electricity, water and gas are included in your room charges. The College provides heating during the colder months (generally Michaelmas and Hilary terms), but it is turned off College-wide when the weather warms up.

For your own safety and that of others, and to maintain the condition of College property, certain items and activities are not permitted in College rooms.

PLEASE DO NOT:

Access any roof or parapet areas

- This is extremely dangerous, and will result in immediate decanal action and potential relocation.
- None of the designated fire escape routes in any of the College's buildings involve accessing a roof or roof parapet.

Use fixatives such as blu-tac, sellotape, scotch tape, pins, adhesive hooks, etc. to fix posters or pictures to the walls: please use the pinboards instead.

- You will receive a £30 minimum charge per wall on your battels for use of fixatives, and may be charged for the full cost of redecoration of the room if you cause any damage to its decor by the use of these items.

The College is happy to provide picture hooks and/or an additional notice board (within reason) if required; please contact the Domestic Bursary to arrange this.

Smoke inside bedrooms or any of the College buildings

- This includes smoking out of windows or on balconies.
- This includes e-cigarettes, which will set off fire alarms.
- Smoking in any place other than a designated area (the Grove entrance to Deep Hall, the Library garden, and the designated areas at each accommodation site) is a breach of College discipline and will result in decanal action.

Cook in your bedroom (other than boiling a kettle)

- Toasters, microwaves, rice cookers and the like are not permitted in student study bedrooms.
- This is a stipulation of the local Fire Service and is strictly observed.
- College staff are required to confiscate cooking appliances from student rooms.
- You may cook only in the designated, purpose-built kitchen areas, if you have access to one.
- BBQs are not permitted on College premises.

Keep animals or reptiles in your room

- No animals may be brought into the College or its annexes.
- Please do not feed the pigeons.

Keep candles, joss-sticks or anything that creates a naked flame in College rooms

- These will be confiscated if found in rooms.

Leave bicycles in your room, or leave bicycles or other belongings, such as sports bags, in common accommodation areas (hallways, landings, etc.)

- These may impede emergency exits and cause damage.
- College staff have instructions to remove such items and to dispose of them.

8.1.7. Electrical appliances and refrigerators in bedrooms

Fire safety is a constant concern at Lincoln. As a result, the following rules in regards to electrical appliances in bedrooms apply:

- You may use small electrical appliances, including a kettle, but not cooking appliances.
- Portable electric heaters and electric fairy lights are not permitted (battery-operated fairy lights are fine).
- Every electrical appliance must carry the appropriate British Standard number or Kitemark. The plug must also carry BS number 1363, be of the safety sleeve type, and be correctly fused for the appliance.
- Flexible plug cables must be in good condition and not worn, perished, split, stretched or twisted.
- Any electrical appliances over two years old must be tested by a qualified electrician and certified as fit for use - this can be organised through the Domestic Bursary on arrival.
- Electrical appliances must not be run from the light circuit.

- You must not use 2-3 plug adapters of the type which plug directly into the wall socket: use only the types which feature a cable running from the wall socket to a range of separately mounted sockets.
- Cables should not trail across the floor or up and down staircases: these could constitute a trip hazard and could cause an electrical fire.

Refrigerators are only permitted for those students who are on an 'In College' accommodation plan, and therefore do not have ready access to a College kitchen. Only mini-fridges will be permitted in College bedrooms; fridges over 50 litres will be removed at the student's expense. Please note that all rooms in the Turl Street Mitre have fridges in them.

It is not the College's responsibility to store student fridges. You must take it home with you or arrange separate storage for it over all vacations, as student rooms are used by others during these periods. There will be a £100 disposal fee for any fridges left behind at the end of the academic year. We are unable to re-sell or recycle fridges; please consider the environmental impact caused if you leave yours behind.

All student fridges must be registered with the Accommodation Services Manager.

8.1.8. Communal Facilities – laundries and fridges

Card operated washing machines and dryers are provided in several laundries around the College. Cards can be purchased from the Lodge for £2. Cards can then be topped up online (instructions are on the cards). Follow the instructions posted in the laundry rooms to use the machines. Ironing facilities are also available. Please keep laundry rooms clear at all times.

The College provides fridges and freezers in some communal areas where space allows. Students are responsible for keeping the fridges clean and free of ice, and allocating space inside.

8.1.9. Additional Charges

If you cause damage to your room, its furnishings, fixtures, fittings and decorations, or to any other College property, you may be charged for the full cost of its repair or replacement.

If the College incurs extra costs in having your room cleaned, as a consequence of action on your part, or failure on your part to leave your accommodation in a fit state at the end of a term, you will be charged accordingly. For example, a bedroom or kitchen requiring additional cleaning or removal of rubbish at the end of a term, or which has not been cleared of your personal belongings, would be likely to incur a minimum £30 charge on your battels. These charges are at the Domestic Operations Manager's discretion.

In cases where no individual can be identified as being responsible for the damage or mess, the College may levy a charge on all students in the block/staircase or on the JCR/MCR as a whole.

When vomit, blood or excrement has to be cleaned from student rooms or communal areas, a minimum £25 additional cleaning charge is levied against either the student (in the case of an individual student room) or the JCR/MCR.

Incidents of damage are reported to the Senior Dean, who decides whether there is a case for disciplinary action, which may include fines in excess of the cost of the repair or replacement. Please refer to 'Behaviour and Discipline' section of this handbook.

8.1.10. TV Licence

You must have a TV Licence to watch or record any live TV on any channel, regardless of what device you use. You also need to be covered by a TV Licence to download or watch BBC programmes on demand - including catch up TV - on BBC iPlayer. This applies to all devices, including a smart TV, desktop computer or laptop, mobile phone, tablet, digital box or games console. Even if you access BBC iPlayer through another provider, such as Sky, Virgin, Freeview or BT, you must have a licence. The cost of a standard TV License is £159/year. More information on this is available here: <https://www.tvlicensing.co.uk/check-if-you-need-one>.

8.1.11. Telephones

The College does not provide telephone lines in student bedrooms. It is expected that students will communicate with friends and family using personal mobile phones, or via Skype, FaceTime, WhatsApp, etc. The installation of telephone lines by BT or any other commercial carrier is not permitted.

8.1.12. Overnight Guests

Student bedrooms are let out on a single-occupancy basis. However, Junior Members are permitted to have occasional overnight guests in their rooms: up to three nights in any ten. Overnight guests must be aged 18 or over. In case of an emergency evacuation such as fire, guests must be 'signed in' online via the College website: <https://lincoln.ox.ac.uk/current-students/overnight-guests>.

Please note the following in relation to overnight guests in student rooms:

- The College does not provide mattresses or bed-linen for guests in rooms.
- If you share a flat you should notify and seek the agreement of your flat-mate(s).
- Junior Members should ensure that their guests comply with College regulations regarding discipline and safety, particularly in event of an emergency evacuation (for more details see Section 10.8, including By-Law VI:D Discipline And Related Matters, section 9.2 Fire Safety).

The Accommodation Services Manager will handle complaints that involve overnight guests and the use of communal accommodation facilities. Any abuses of the overnight guest policy will be referred to the Senior Dean.

8.1.13. Accommodation during Vacations ("Vac Res")

During vacation periods rooms are often occupied by interviewees, conference or summer school guests, or are refurbished. Because of this, as noted in 8.1.4 you must vacate your room as specified by your accommodation plan unless you have applied for and been granted vacation residence ("Vac Res").

Detailed information on the Vac Res application process will be circulated by the Accommodation Services Manager each term, and applications must be submitted by the deadline specified. Please see also <https://lincoln.ox.ac.uk/current-students/accommodation/vac-res>. Late applications are less likely to be successful.

The College tries its best to allow students to stay on if they would like to and if they have a valid reason for doing so. In granting Vac Res the College follows these guidelines:

- Rooms will always be available for people taking University examinations, who will wherever possible remain in their own room.

- Applications for Vac Res must include a valid reason, e.g. academic purposes such as exams, or College-sponsored activities such as volunteering at Open Days.
- Vac Res will normally only be granted for periods of time which are contiguous with term dates. Random dates in the middle of the summer vacation are not considered to be Vac Res (in this situation please book a room on a B&B basis).
- Priority in granting Vac Res is given to students from overseas.

Please note the following important points in relation to Vac Res:

- You must ALWAYS apply for Vac Res if you need a room during vacation periods, even if this is due to college/university exams.
- VacRes after the end of Michaelmas Term will only be granted in exceptional circumstances as all rooms are required for admissions interviews.
- You may be required to pay for your accommodation in advance. If this causes you particular difficulty you are welcome to discuss it with the Bursar who may be able to come to another arrangement.
- You may be able to get some financial assistance for your period of Vac Res (see section 3.17.1 on "Vacation Grants").
- If you do stay up during a vacation it may not be possible for you to remain in the same room that you have occupied during term.
- You must vacate your room by 10.00 a.m. on the day of departure.
- If you are granted Vac Res, and then find you need to leave earlier or later than the date you requested on your application, you need to give the Domestic Bursary a minimum of three working days' notice of the change of date; please do not assume that extensions to vacation residence requests will be granted.
- The College reserves the right to charge for an extra night for late departures and/or late key returns on the day of departure.
- If you stay in your room beyond the end-date of your accommodation agreement without permission you could create great difficulties for the College. If you do not apply for Vac Res but stay on, or stay on past the agreed departure date, you will be charged for your use of the room at the College's commercial conference rate (approximately £70 - £80 per night).
- Students should not make any firm plans to leave College at a later date until Vac Res has been granted.
- VacRes will NOT be granted to cover intervals of time before parents can collect undergraduates and their belongings – term dates are well-publicised and arrangements should be made accordingly.

Provided the College is not officially closed, undergraduates may return to College residence from Sunday of 0th Week of each term.

8.1.14. Storage

In-College storage is only available out-of-term, and only for international students living in College accommodation. Overseas students needing out-of-term storage should contact the Lodge Manager. We are unable to offer storage space to students prior to a move into College accommodation.

Items left in storage for an unreasonable length of time, and any belongings left in student rooms after the end of term will be disposed of.

8.1.15. Pests

Any infestations of pests should be immediately reported to the Lodge or Accommodation Services Manager. Expected response times for pest control are:

- Emergency: Within 24 hours
- Urgent: Within 48 hours
- Non-urgent: Within 3 working days

If an infestation is reported out of office hours you may be offered an alternative room by the Lodge.

8.2. Maintenance

The College's Maintenance Team, headed by the Clerk of Works, is responsible for the repair and upkeep of the College's premises. General maintenance issues should be reported online via <http://lincmaintenance.linc.ox.ac.uk:8123/>. Maintenance emergencies can also be reported via the Lodge.

The maintenance team will do its best to respond as quickly as possible to these maintenance requests, but please be aware that they are prioritised based on urgency, and an overflowing toilet would take precedence over a lightbulb needing to be replaced!

The Maintenance Team will work to the following initial response times:

- Emergency Within 24 hours
- Urgent issues Within 48 hours
- Non-urgent issues Within 5 working days

Please note that these are initial response times and it may be the case that follow-up work is needed to fully resolve a maintenance issue. When there are multiple maintenance issues to be dealt with, they will be addressed in the above order.

Planned maintenance jobs in or near student accommodation will also need to take place from time to time. Students will be given a minimum of 7 days' notice of these. For any urgent works, a minimum of 24 hours' notice will be given unless the circumstances require an immediate response.

Students are not insured to tamper with College electrical circuits and equipment (including light bulbs) or plumbing, so please do not attempt to fix items that have malfunctioned.

8.3. Cleaning

The College's cleaning staff are known as Scouts. The cleaning regime varies from area to area. Communal areas, en-suites, shared bathrooms, and kitchens are cleaned by the Scouts on a regular basis. You must co-operate with the Scouts and allow them access to your room regularly; they in turn will respect your privacy. If you have any problems or concerns you should contact the Housekeeping Manager for your area or Domestic Operations Manager.

Students are expected to do their part and keep their rooms clean so as to preserve the standard of accommodation. Vacuum cleaners are provided where required for vacuuming your own room.

8.4. Catering

College meals, particularly dinners, are of good quality – indeed, Lincoln has a reputation for serving some of the best student meals in Oxford.

All students pay a non-refundable Catering Charge in advance at the beginning of each term. It provides credit to purchase meals in Hall. It can also be used to purchase food and soft drinks in Deep Hall from 1st to 8th week of term. The Catering Charge can also be used to pay for guests' meals at any meal at which a Lincoln member can use their charge. Any unused credit will be carried over from term to term within an academic year, but does not carry over into the next academic year. Whether or not there is unspent catering credit on the card, the catering is payable in full at the beginning of each term.

Partners of graduate students may apply for associate membership of the MCR. As an associate member your partner would then have access to your Catering Charge using their own swipe cards. Please contact the Graduate Officer for details.

The only students exempted from the Catering Charge are those on a year abroad, medics on electives based outside Oxfordshire, and graduate students who are required to live away from Oxford for a term or more and who have completed the GSO.8 'dispensation from residence' form.

Barbecues are not permitted on College premises, except those booked through the Chef or Bar Manager for use in the Grove or at the Sports Pavilion.

8.4.1. Dining in Hall

Please see the 'Current Students' section of the College website for information on meals in Hall, including days, times, style of service, number of guests allowed, approximate costs, and booking requirements. Some meals will require pre-booking. Appendix 1 of this handbook contains the list of meal charges.

8.4.2. Special meal arrangements for graduate students

Graduate students have the chance to attend MCR lunches at High Table during each term, as arranged by the MCR Committee. Graduates may also dine at their own cost at High Table once a week during Term (except Sundays, Guest, Chapter, Dessert and Domus nights) subject to availability of spaces. Graduates may not bring guests to High Table (unless they are Senior Scholars or Junior Deans). No more than four MCR members and their guests may dine on any given night.

8.4.3. Meals during vacation periods

During Vacations lunch and dinner are normally available in Hall, though you will need to sign up for them online before 10am each day, and 10am on Fridays for weekend and bank holiday meals. The online meal booking system is not linked directly to your battels. However you will be charged for meals you have signed up for, and then failed to attend. Meal timings during vacations are subject to change and occasionally the normal meal service cannot be provided (though the College will aim to give as much notice as possible).

8.4.4. Guests in Hall

Guests should always be over 14 years of age. The exception to this is current College members with children, who are welcome to bring their children to breakfast, weekend brunch, lunch, and Informal Hall. Children must be kept under strict supervision at all times, and you must contact the Domestic Bursary the day before if you will require a High Chair.

Please note that the Kitchen is not able to provide special meals for children. Children of current College members will be charged at the same rate as current members, and against the current member's Catering Charge.

8.4.5. Dietary Requirements

The College recognises that some people have particular dietary needs and wishes to accommodate these wherever possible. The kitchen keeps a register of those with allergies, intolerances or other dietary needs and will cater for these wherever possible. If you are concerned about provision for your dietary needs, please speak to the Chef or Domestic Operations Manager. Please also consult the Domestic Bursary if your dietary requirements or allergies are not listed as an option in the on-line booking facility.

If you are a, vegan, require Kosher or Halal meals, or have an allergy/intolerance or other dietary need, it is your responsibility to either sign up in advance of a meal (where a sign-up option is available), or notify the kitchen. You should also identify yourself to the serving staff at any meals you attend. Information about allergens contained in dishes is available from the kitchen and serving staff.

8.5. Deep Hall

Deep Hall is the College bar. Although alcoholic drinks are generally served only in the evenings, Deep Hall is also open during the day and offers excellent coffee (drink-in or takeaway), smoothies, pastries, light lunches (baguettes, salads, snacks), light evening meals (e.g. pizzas), soft drinks, and a range of snacks and confectionery. All items with the exception of alcohol can be paid for using Bod cards. Deep Hall timings and offerings are as follows:

Day	Time	Food & Drinks Available
Monday - Friday	10:00 – 12:00	Hot and cold (non-alcoholic) drinks Smoothies Fresh baked pastries Snacks & confectionery
	12:00 – 13:30	Baguettes & baps, salads, snacks
	18:00 - 23:00	Alcoholic drinks Snacks & confectionery
	19:15 – 21:15	Light hot meals
Saturday & Sunday	CLOSED

Alcoholic drinks in Deep Hall are deliberately set at prices moderately cheaper than prices in local pubs - the guideline is '80% of local pub prices'. Payment for drinks is by cash or card (chip & pin or contactless).

Members may bring up to three guests into Deep Hall. Guests are the member's responsibility must be accompanied by the member at all times.

It is against the College's rules for bar users to bring their own alcohol into Deep Hall. Anyone who does bring their own alcohol into Deep Hall will be asked to dispose of it, or asked to leave. Infringements may result in College disciplinary procedures.

8.6. Sustainability

College members are encouraged to think about sustainability both within the College and without. Here are some tips to help you reduce your impact on the planet:

- Switch off all electrical items, including computers, when not in use.
- Low-energy light fittings (those which take a while to power up) should not be flicked on and off frequently as this uses more power, but rather switched on when needed and used for an hour or longer at a time.
- Keep heating on at low level over the winter and put on extra layers of clothing as a first resort when feeling chilly.
- Remember more than five minutes in a power shower equates to a whole bath-full of water, and put the shower gel/shampoo on first!
- Save your washing until you have enough clothes to fill a machine; a 40C cycle should be sufficient to remove most stains.
- Turn all taps off properly after use and report any water leaks or persistent drips to the maintenance team.
- If you have old electrical equipment or computers to be disposed of, please speak to the Clerk of Works.
- Alert the maintenance team to anything which needs fixing and to any particularly draughty windows or doors.
- Vegetarian and vegan meals are available in Hall and Deep Hall for those who wish to reduce their meat consumption on environmental and other grounds.

8.6.1. Recycling

Lincoln Fellows and staff are committed to recycling, and we would urge students to do the same. Bespoke Lincoln College mixed recycling bags are provided in all College bedrooms. The following recycling points are also available around College:

Security and Safety

Please be aware that certain alternative Domestic arrangements may need to be put in place this year, to ensure that the College remains safe and secure for all its members, and complies with existing Government guidelines. Please refer regularly to the following pages on the College and University websites: <https://lincoln.ox.ac.uk/current-students/covid-19> and <https://www.ox.ac.uk/coronavirus/students>. Here you will find FAQs and information about any special arrangements in place during the COVID-19 pandemic. Information contained on these websites will supercede some of the information contained in this section of the Handbook. These websites will be updated frequently so it is important that you check them often. Please also see Appendix 3: Requirements for students during the Covid-19 pandemic

The College pays a great deal of attention to the provision of a safe and secure environment and to compliance with Health and Safety legislation. As a member of the College community it is regarded as your duty to maintain the College's safety and security, and failure to respect this duty is viewed seriously.

9.1 Keys, Bodleian Card, etc

On your arrival in Oxford you will be supplied with

- (1) a University Card (also known as a Bodleian Card or Bod Card) which gives access to University facilities and is used to pay for meals;
- (2) a security fob allowing you access to the College and its annexes; and
- (3) a key for your room.

You are required to check in and out of the Lodge when moving into or vacating College accommodation. If you don't check out you may be charged for accommodation after you have gone home.

Try not to lose your cards or keys. If you lose your Bodleian Card, please order a replacement on the Estates Services website; there is a £15 charge for a replacement. Contact the Lodge if you lose your security fob and/or keys. Replacement security fobs and keys cost £25 (each) for a first loss, and £50 (each) for a second loss. If loss of a key results in a lock having to be changed you will be charged £100. Please note that if you need a fob or key temporarily you will be required to pay a £20 returnable cash deposit.

You must return your security fob to the Lodge when you leave College permanently (at the end of your degree course), otherwise you will forfeit £25 of your deposit.

In order to gain access to some College facilities (e.g. public meeting rooms, boathouse) you may need to collect a key from the Lodge which must be signed in and out. You are responsible for the key's return so don't pass it on to another student. Please note that you will not normally be allowed to sign out the key for the boat house unless you will be at the boat house with at least one other College member.

You should ask visitors to phone you from the Lodge so that you can meet them and take them to your room. This may be cumbersome but is the most secure way of admitting guests. Beware also of 'tailgating': intruders following you into the College site.

The central College site, including the Library, is comprehensively covered by CCTV cameras, monitored from the Lodge. If you see any intruders or suspicious behaviour you must report it to the Lodge immediately.

The College lodge team make regular security patrols, particularly at night, in teaching and accommodation areas. These are conducted to ensure your safety, and are kept as unobtrusive as possible.

9.2. Fire Safety

Fire safety is very important in a community like Lincoln, especially as many of the College's buildings are old and vulnerable to fire. It is in all of our interests to make College a safe place to live, study, and work, and all College members must be vigilant against risks.

You should be aware of the location of fire exits, and respond promptly to fire alarms, evacuating the building by the prescribed route in a calm and orderly way. You should familiarise yourself with the fire escape routes available to you, and have clothing at hand, ready to wear in the event of an evacuation during sleeping hours.

If you will find it difficult to follow the emergency procedures at any time, please inform the Porters' Lodge or the Domestic Operations Manager.

The College is legally required to run regular fire drills, and it is expected that students will comply when the alarm sounds, for the safety of all. When the alarm sounds, please exit the building and report to the specified assembly point. During evacuation drills you will be given two minutes to leave the building; after that College staff will check all rooms, including bathrooms, and if you are found inside you will be reported to the Senior Dean. Please note that no-one will be allowed back into the building until the last person has evacuated.

In residential accommodation, each student's actions may compromise the safety of other students in their block. The College provides everyone arriving at College with information about fire safety and regular updates on when fire alarms have gone off and how this can be avoided.

These are the key rules:

- DO NOT INTERFERE WITH FIRE SAFETY EQUIPMENT.
- Do not move fire extinguishers;
- Do not use fire extinguishers to prop open any doors;
- Do not tamper with fire extinguishers;
- Do not wedge Fire Doors open or closed;
- Do not tamper with smoke detectors;
- Do not tamper with locks/ bolts on fire exits;
- In your study bedroom, no cooking food; no cookers, no toasters, no rice kettles, no microwave ovens; no candles, no naked flames, no smoking.
- No smoking in any College building. Smoking is only permitted in designated smoking areas;
- BBQs are not permitted on College premises.

Because of the need to make College a safe and secure environment for us all, any breach of the fire safety rules is a serious matter, and may lead to disciplinary action under the College's Disciplinary Code. (See Chapter 10 of the Handbook. Please note that what you see there is the full, authoritative statement of the Disciplinary Code: what follows here is for guidance only.) However, some kinds of breach are singled out as 'Major Violations', meaning that the disciplinary response to them is likely to be severe, in an especial effort to discourage them. Others are referred to as 'Minor Violations'.

A Major Violation is an intentional, reckless or grossly negligent breach of the fire safety rules that poses a marked danger to the safety of the student or other members of College. To illustrate (these examples are not meant to be exhaustive), the category of Major Violation includes the following:

- Any student who tampers with a fire detector or fire alarm, or with the proper functioning of a fire detector or fire alarm, will have committed a Major Violation.
 - Example – a student affixes a plastic container over a fire detector.
- Students may only smoke in designated smoking areas. Any student who smokes in a student room, in a staircase, or an indoors common space, will have committed a Major Violation. Any student who smokes while leaning out of a student room window will have committed a Major Violation.
 - Example – a student comes home from the pub and has a cigarette in their room.
 - Example – a student smokes inside in a staircase entryway.
- Any student who burns any sort of flame in the room will have committed a Major Violation. This includes candles, and incense.
 - Example – a student has lit a tea-light-candle on their window-sill.
- Any student who is negligent or reckless in the way they use a College kitchen will have committed a Major Violation.
 - Example – a student is using a frying-pan to cook chips on the hob, and leaves the kitchen to go and check email in their bedroom while the chips are cooking.
- Any student who leaves large objects in corridors or on staircases for extended periods of time will have committed a Major Violation.
 - Example – a student stores her bicycle in a College corridor for more than a few minutes.
 - Example – a student leaves his bulky cricket bag in front of the entry to a staircase landing for more than a few minutes.
 - Example – students set up a 'lounge area' in an escape route outside a cluster of bedrooms.

Alleged Minor Violations are likely to be dealt with by the Deans under 'Course 1' of the Disciplinary Code, and if established, will probably result in an admonition and/or a community service penalty.

The handling of alleged Major Violations is likely to depend on whether the student in question has previously received a 'severe admonition' under the Code (whether for a violation of the fire safety rules or anything else).

- If they have not, the Deans are likely to proceed under 'Course 1' of the Code, and if the violation is established, will probably give a 'severe admonition' now, and perhaps a community service penalty too.
- But if the student has previously received a 'severe admonition', the Deans will probably proceed under 'Course 2' of the Code, involving a Disciplinary Committee – which can impose much more severe penalties, up to and including sending-down.

In a case of this sort, it is especially likely to consider excluding the student from their College accommodation.

In short, a student committing two Major Violations stands a good chance of being evicted from their College accommodation or at the very least moved to alternate accommodation.

9.3. Electrical Appliances

All electrical appliances must only be used in compliance with the regulations set out in 8.5 above.

9.4. Personal Belongings

You are urged to take good care of your possessions, exercising general common sense and security-consciousness. Do not leave your room unlocked, even for short periods.

The College has arranged a blanket insurance policy to provide cover for students' possessions while in College accommodation. The cost of this insurance is approximately £10 and this sum will be added to your Michaelmas Term battels. If the insurance cover provided by this policy is insufficient for your purposes, you should arrange separate additional cover.

9.5. Bicycles

You may be quite happy pottering around town on foot, if you can, given that Lincoln is so central, but like many students you may want to get a bike (if only for an extra five minutes in bed!). Please remember that Oxford city centre is a busy and potentially dangerous place to cycle – make sure you know the rules of the road, wear a helmet and have good lights in place (the Oxford police do spot checks and fine cyclists travelling in the dark without lights).

Bicycle theft is common in Oxford. You are encouraged to insure your bicycle and to keep it safe and secure with a good strong D lock. Storage for bicycles is provided in the basement beneath the garage on the west side of Turl Street (entrance next door to Norah's Antiques). There is also a bicycle storage area in the basement below the Lodge at Museum Road, and there are racks behind the EPA Centre. At Little Clarendon Street there is parking to the east of the building, and in Bear lane there are bicycle racks on site.

You must register your bicycle with the Lodge immediately upon your arrival in College and collect a sticker which should be placed on your bicycle. The College undertakes periodic checks and disposes of unregistered bicycles.

9.6. Smoking

Smoking is only permitted in the Grove, and designated areas at Bear Lane, Museum Road, and the Library Quad.

9.7. Snow and Ice

The Gardens team is responsible for clearing and salting or gritting the main access paths and steps around College during period of icy and snowy weather, and will also undertake precautionary gritting as required. There will inevitably be less cover at weekends and out-of-hours, so Lincoln members will need to take extra care at these times.

9.8. Accessing the Roof

It is strictly forbidden to access roof or parapet areas of College premises, except in case of emergency. Any student doing so, or allowing others to do so via their room, will face disciplinary action of the same kind as someone who commits a Major Violation of the fire safety rules (see above).

9.9. Armed Incidents

Firearms and weapons attacks are extremely rare in the UK. In the unlikely event of an incident, students should follow the advice Run Hide Tell.

Run to a place of safety. This is a far better option than to surrender or negotiate. If there's nowhere to go, then...

Hide. It's better to hide than to confront. Remember to turn your phone to silent and turn off vibrate. Barricade yourself in if you can. Then finally and only when it is safe to do so...

Tell the police by calling 999.

The College as a Community

Please be aware that certain arrangements may need to be put in place this year, to ensure that the College remains safe and secure for all its members, and complies with existing Government guidelines. Please refer regularly to the following pages on the College and University websites: <https://lincoln.ox.ac.uk/current-students/covid-19> and <https://www.ox.ac.uk/coronavirus/students>. Here you will find FAQs and information about any special arrangements in place during the COVID-19 pandemic. Information contained on these websites will supercede some of the information contained in this section of the Handbook. These websites will be updated frequently so it is important that you check them often. Please also see Appendix 3: Requirements for students during the Covid-19 pandemic.

As a member of the College, you will be part of a community. In fact, obviously, of more than one. Within the College itself, you will join either the Junior or Middle Common Room; the cohort of students comprising your year; those studying your subject; perhaps a sports team, orchestra, dramatic company, or something of that kind; the group of students living in your vicinity; as well as your set of friends, and other, less clearly defined but nonetheless real, groupings.

The College sets a lot of store by those parts of its make-up that give it its character as a community. It provides accommodation for virtually all undergraduate students, and a large number of postgraduates, and has ensured that almost all of this accommodation is in its own centres, which are close to the college site itself. It is proud that students like to eat so regularly in Hall. Its tutors are concerned not only to help you with your academic work, but to look out for your general well-being too.

The Rector, Bursar, Senior Tutor, Domestic Operations Manager, Chaplain and Deans try to understand the student's as well as other points of view in all their thinking, and regularly talk with student representatives. The porters at the Lodge, the college nurse, the administrative staff and the domestic staff don't simply do their obvious jobs, but also try to keep an eye out for people's general welfare. The students, too, take a justifiable pride in the part they themselves play in making and keeping the College a good place to be.

Membership of a community is empowering; but, to safeguard the community, the empowerment comes at the price of restrictions, or with strings attached. This part of the handbook identifies some of the more concrete vehicles of empowerment flowing from your membership of the College, but also (at greater length!) the strings and restrictions. It covers the College's common rooms and sports facilities; the Chapel; the facilities and ground rules for holding parties, dinners, meetings and other functions in the College; and the rules and procedures in regard to discipline in the College.

Student clubs and societies play a vital role in the life of the College community, and Lincoln aims to foster the growth and well-being of these clubs. Any club wishing to have a formal association with the College—i.e., wishing to use its name, rooms, or other resources—is required to complete an 'Application for Association' (available on the College website) and submit it to the Senior Dean.

The College officers and members of staff primarily concerned with the matters covered in this part of the handbook are the Bursar and Domestic Operations Manager, who are responsible for the provision of the various facilities; the Chaplain, who is responsible for the chapel; and the Deans, who are responsible for regulation and discipline.

10.1. Eating and drinking

Eating and drinking with other members of your community is a traditional element in human life. Reflecting this for our community, Lincoln consciously tries (we think successfully!) to operate a Hall where its members like to eat together, and on special days in the College year provides an extra-special meal and wine. We also run a bar, Deep Hall. And the common rooms and other student groups organise events of their own, in and out of College, involving an element of eating and/or drinking: dinners, parties, bops, and clubbing.

At the same time, we would not wish to ignore the observation that alcohol can be a factor in a number of ills, including poor health, debt, aggression, failure to keep up with work, and vulnerability to unwanted or criminal behaviour by others. Students can be particularly afflicted in these ways, since they are often relatively inexperienced, or do not take sensible care of themselves (or appear not to). Since you will be spending only a relatively short period of your life at the College, it would be especially unfortunate for you if it was significantly degraded by such ills. We also recognise the different ways in which alcohol is viewed in different cultural and religious traditions, and the different positions that exist as to what constitutes appropriate food. We therefore try to ensure that drink is not unthinkingly served on all conceivable occasions (this point plays a particular part in the planning for Freshers' Week); that non-alcoholic drinks are always available and equally eligible when alcohol is being served; and that alcohol prices in Deep Hall are approximately 80 per cent of local pub prices.

We routinely provide vegetarian and vegan meals: see section 8. The College is committed to providing meals that are suitable for those with special medical, ethical or religious requirements, and regularly updates its practices in consultation with student representatives and University-wide advice. If you are concerned about provision for your dietary needs, please speak to the Domestic Operations Manager.

10.2. Intoxication

The welfare of all members of the community is of paramount importance in Lincoln College. Our aim is to make College a hospitable, safe place to live, study, and work. With this in mind, College treats any anti-social behaviour which is either aggravated or caused by alcohol or drugs extremely seriously. Abuse of alcohol not only jeopardises your own health and academic performance, but also disrupts the community of which you are a part. Under the existing disciplinary procedure (see section VI.D) College reserves the right to exclude members from College services, including accommodation. Instances where the College may consider such a course of action include, but are not limited, to the following.

A student engages in reckless or dangerous behaviour, under the influence or suspected influence of alcohol and/or drugs, which poses a threat to self or others or which endangers the reputation of the College (see section VI.D.1.ii.d).

A student is unable to understand and comply with reasonable instructions given for their health and safety or the health and safety of others (see also section VI.D.2.ii.e).

For further clarity, examples of the above instances may include, but are not limited to:

- A student is physically or verbally aggressive or intimidating towards others while under the suspected or actual influence of alcohol and/or drugs;
- A student is unable to care for themselves safely because they are intoxicated or are suspected of being under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs;
- A student engages in anti-social behaviour, such as damage to property, due to the suspected or actual influence of alcohol or drugs.

In considering such cases, the College may take into account:

1. Any evidence of actual or attempted compliance on the student's behalf with the reasonable requests or instructions of the College and
2. The student's previous record of behaviour.

Students are, of course, forbidden to use illegal drugs. Remember that even 'Class C' drugs are addictive, dangerous, and severely impede academic work.

Should a student develop a drug or alcohol problem, there is a clinic at the Warneford Hospital in Oxford which provides a 24-hour drugs/alcohol advisory service (phone 01865 226243).

Whenever possible, the College wishes to protect confidentiality and will put students in touch with professionals who can help with drugs or alcohol misuse, but the College is also bound by Civil and University regulations to discipline any members using or dealing in drugs on its premises.

The College's By-Laws on illegal drugs are as follows:

VI:H STUDENT HEALTH

4 Illegal drugs

- i. The possession of a controlled drug, or its supply (whether or not for profit), or an offer to supply controlled drugs by junior members shall constitute "misbehaviour" for the purposes of By-law VI:D
- ii. If the Dean concludes that there is evidence establishing that it is more probable than not that the junior member is guilty of misbehaviour under (i) above, then subject to the proviso below, the Dean shall:
 - (a) in the case of alleged use of suspected 'Class C' drugs on the College's premises: proceed with the matter under By-law VI:D.2 (using Course 2).
 - (b) in the case of alleged use of suspected 'Class C' drugs on another college's or University premises: report the matter to the Proctors.
 - (c) in the case of alleged use of suspected 'Class A' or 'Class B' drugs, or of alleged offering, selling or giving of any illegal drugs, anywhere: report the matter to the police (and also to the Proctors).

The proviso is that the Dean will not proceed in this way if the evidence against the Junior Member arises only from the Junior Member having approached an appropriate person with a view to seeking help and that evidence amounts only to an admission of consumption of controlled drugs and not to the supply of controlled drugs
- iii. In cases ii(b) and ii(c), the Dean shall however leave open the possibility of postponed College disciplinary proceedings under By-law VI:D.2.vi; and report the matter to the Sub-Rector so that the Sub-Rector may consider the exclusion of the junior member under By-law VI:D.3.
- iv. In case ii(a), if the Disciplinary Committee concludes that it is more probable than not that the junior member is guilty of the misbehaviour alleged,
 - (a) if this is the first recorded instance of misbehaviour involving drugs during the particular junior member's time at the College, the Committee's determination of the case shall normally take the form of an admonition; together with a fine and/or medical conditions if the Committee thinks appropriate.

- (b) if this is the second or subsequent instance of misbehaviour involving drugs during the particular junior member's time at the College, the Committee shall have available to it the full range of determinations generally at its disposal.

10.3 Common rooms

The College has a Senior Common Room, a Middle Common Room, and a Junior Common Room - generally called the SCR, MCR, and JCR. Each term refers to a group of people; the group's physical space and facilities; and its activities.

So far as the 'group of people' meaning is concerned, the MCR comprises the College's postgraduate students (including those taking a second BA), plus some associate members; the JCR, its undergraduate students. (Technically, postgraduate students are also members of the JCR, but in practice they tend to confine themselves to the MCR.) The SCR, broadly speaking, comprises the College's academic staff, plus some associates. It is a wider group than the Governing Body, which consists only of Fellows. But students often refer to the Governing Body as the SCR.

The MCR has its space on the ground floor of the Berrow Foundation Building on the main site. This is open until midnight each day, and provides free tea and coffee, newspapers and magazines, and a television. Notices of interest to postgraduates are posted there. The MCR's social programme generally includes parties, dinners, film nights, and whatever else its members want.

The JCR's room is in the Chapel Quadrangle, on the ground floor between staircases 5 and 6. It remains open 24 hours a day. There are vending machines, and tea and coffee are available. There are also newspapers, magazines, two televisions, and a DVD player. The JCR has a collection of DVDs that can be borrowed by members through the Vice-President. If you borrow a DVD, you are held personally responsible in the event of theft or damage. The JCR's social programme generally includes two bops a term, plus a large range of other kinds of events devised each year (such as river trips; outings to Alton Towers; fireworks; barbecues).

Both the MCR and the JCR meet periodically to discuss a range of issues, some to do with their internal affairs, others concerning the way the College is run. They elect their own executive committees. Members of these committees represent the MCR and JCR in dealings with the Governing Body and College Officers: in particular, they have regular meetings with the College's Rector, Bursar, Domestic Operations Manager, Senior Tutor and Deans, and attend Governing Body and committee meetings for matters of special interest to students. You can also consult the MCR and JCR executive members over any matter where you need advice or support.

The MCR and JCR generally run a punt-hire scheme in the summer term, with the punts usually operating from Cherwell Boathouse or Magdalen Bridge: details will be provided at the start of the term. Periodically (generally every other year), they put on a ball in the College. They do not run their own bar: rather, the College itself provides a bar (Deep Hall) for students, offering the usual facilities, including pool, darts, pinball and arcade machines. New students will be given more information about the MCR and JCR in the common rooms' own literature.

10.4. Sports facilities

The College's sports facilities are at Bartlemas Close and include football and rugby pitches, a cricket ground, tennis court and a pavilion with changing rooms, refreshments and multi-gym equipment (the latter can only be used after completing the University induction – sign up at the Lodge). Also, the College has a fleet of boats kept at the boathouse: the Boat Club will circulate more information at the start of each year. Keys for these facilities can be signed out from the Lodge – students are of course responsible for the keys and the use of the facilities until they are returned. Please note that you will not normally be allowed to sign out the key for the boat house unless you will be at the boat house with at least one other College member.

We share a squash court with Jesus College in St Cross Road – to book and collect the key, go to Jesus Lodge. At present, all Lincoln students with a valid University card can also join the University's Iffley Road Gym free of charge. Facilities include an athletics track, swimming-pool and fitness suite. Students must first sign up at the Iffley Road reception and complete the compulsory induction course.

New students will receive more information from the various sports captains who organise matches. It is up to students to set up new teams if there isn't one for their favourite sport.

Remember to check that you are adequately insured against the risks involved in playing sports. The College has only limited cover relevant to you: sports captains will be able to advise further.

10.5 The College Chapel

Lincoln College welcomes students and staff from all faith traditions and none. The College is a Christian foundation, and the College Chapel and its activities are an important part of the College community.

The Chapel itself forms one side of Chapel Quad. It dates principally from the early seventeenth century, and is a relatively intimate space, containing some lovely woodwork and a set of very fine painted-glass windows (recently restored thanks to a generous benefaction). It, and the surrounding College, were part of the Anglican Diocese of Lincoln when the Bishop of Lincoln founded the College in the fifteenth century. When Oxford became a diocese in its own right a century later, Lincoln's own College was excluded from the transfer.

The Chapel's forms of service follow those of the Church of England, but we hope that the Chapel space and its services are accessible to everyone. Sunday Choral Evensong at 6pm in full term is the main service of the week. The Eucharist is celebrated three times a week, and there are daily said services of Morning Prayer Monday to Friday when we pray for all aspects of College life as well as for broader concerns. There are also special services to mark important dates in the College year. These include our two Chapter Days, when we give thanks for the Founders and Benefactors of the College, and All Saints Day, the Chapel's patronal festival – formally we are 'The College of the Blessed Mary and All Saints, commonly known as Lincoln College, Oxford'. Details of services are circulated in the term-card delivered to all pigeonholes at the start of each term, which is also available at <https://lincoln.ox.ac.uk/discover/the-chapel/services>. Reminders are issued through posters in the noticeboard in the front quad, and the Chaplain's regular email updates.

People come to services or visit the Chapel at other times for a wide range of reasons. Some are practicing Christians who wish to worship God in the College where they live and work, others because Chapel is part of the College experience and they want to enjoy one of the best choirs in Oxford, or because it's a good place to bring a visitor or guest. Some come because they value time to pause and reflect in an otherwise hectic week, or they have questions, and need the time to face them. Any, all or none of those reasons is fine. You will always be welcome in Chapel, however regularly or infrequently you choose to attend.

If you are of another faith or tradition, the Chaplain is also very happy to put people in touch with other Christian denominational and faith representatives and can provide information about places of worship in the University and beyond.

The Chapel is the particular responsibility of the College's Chaplain, Andrew Shamel, who is also the Student Welfare Co-ordinator for the College (see section 6.1). The Chaplain is assisted in the Chapel in a number of ways by student helpers: they are named on the Chapel term-card. Among them are the Organ Scholars and Chapel Wardens.

The Chapel has a recently installed a rather distinctive Drake organ. People come from miles around to play it. If you would like to play the Chapel organ, whether in connection with services or otherwise, you should contact an organ Scholar. The organ may be played between 10 am and 9 pm.

10.6 Functions

Please be aware that the information in this section may be subject to change according to the latest government, University, and College regulations related to Covid-19. Use of public rooms and spaces may be severely limited due to Covid-19 restrictions. 'Covid capacities' will be listed on the room booking section of the website. Students with questions about the use of any rooms in College are encouraged to consult with the Domestic Bursary.

The College has a number of public rooms and open spaces that you can use for holding rehearsals, meetings, dinners, parties and other functions: the Beckington, Buttery, Langford, Williams, Montgomery/Mary Lasker (dinner only), Oakeshott; Lower Lecture Room; Deep Hall; the Grove; the sports ground and pavilion. The Hall is also available to book for occasional student functions, but requires Governing Body approval so planning ahead is essential. You are also able to hold parties and other functions in your own room. This section gives guidance, and explains the rules, about doing so. If you have any queries, you should contact the Conference & Events Manager or Deans.

10.6.1 Booking procedures

To hold any function in any location (including your room) you need to complete a booking form which is (available on the College website: <https://lincoln.ox.ac.uk/current-students/function-room-booking-form>). Once submitted, it will automatically go through an approval process (that includes the Junior Deans if alcohol is involved) and you will be contacted by the Conference and Events Manager in due course. Any function involving alcohol will require prior approval from a Junior Dean.

Any function requiring food, drink or staff involvement, or being held in the sports ground or pavilion, requires at least two weeks' notice. Other bookings require only 24 hours.

Bookings cannot usually be made earlier than Thursday of 8th week of the preceding term. At the time of booking, you must state the start and end times of function and the number of people attending. It is your responsibility to ensure that these are not exceeded, that your guests behave sensibly and appropriately and that the venue is returned to its original condition. You must be present throughout: the first to arrive and the last to leave. You are also required to provide a contact mobile phone number and be responsible for key security.

10.6.2. Public rooms and spaces

You can also use the College's public rooms and open spaces for the activities of College or University clubs or societies of which you are a bona fide officer (not merely a nominee); please note that bookings of public rooms, especially if fewer than half of the attendees are from Lincoln, may attract a booking fee.

Students of the College who wish to hold a meeting on College premises or to hold events elsewhere which are College funded, affiliated or branded must obtain the Senior Dean's written permission in advance, and book the College room with the Conference and Events Manager via the process outlined in section 10.6.1. Members, students, and employees of the College are bound at all times so to conduct themselves as to ensure that freedom of speech within the law is secured for members, students, and employees of the College and for visiting speakers. Any member, student, or employee who organises a meeting in College is under an obligation to remind speakers and audience alike of their responsibilities to observe the College's policies on harassment and to conduct civil academic discussions at all times. The College's Policies on Harassment and on Freedom of Speech are available on the College Website. Students should also be aware that the College has obligations under the Prevent duty (<https://lincoln.ox.ac.uk/asset/prevent-policy.pdf>) and that the Prevent Duty is exercised alongside the College's other legal and statutory obligations, including upholding freedom of speech and academic freedom, promoting equality and diversity, and preventing harassment.

Below are details of the rules that apply to the various public rooms. You should consult the Domestic Bursary as to the most suitable venue for the function you have in mind. Unless otherwise stated, functions must end and the area be vacated by 11.30 pm, apart from Saturdays outside the exam period when the deadline is 12.30 am. Music is only allowed on Fridays and Saturdays (Saturdays only during the exam period). Alcoholic drinks may only be served if soft drinks are also available.

For booking purposes, the exam period is defined as 3rd to 9th week of Trinity Term, inclusive.

If you are organising a dinner, you also need to liaise in good time with the Conference and Events Manager. They will give you an estimated price for the dinner, and invoice you afterwards; you will be responsible for payment of the invoice. Most dinners will be subject to VAT – any exceptions will need to complete an exemption form at the time of booking. Two weeks prior to the event, you must provide the Conference and Events Manager with an estimate of the numbers attending, as well as menu and wine choices, then one week before the event, you will need to provide a list of those attending along with any dietary requirements. Dinners cannot normally take place on Bank Holidays, and not more than three special dinners can be held in one week. It is Lincoln policy that the food and beverages supplied in public rooms are provided by the College; students and student groups are not normally permitted to provide their own food or beverages.

- Montgomery Room, Mary Lasker Room, Buttery Dining Room: Dinners may be held in the Montgomery Room (normally, seating up to 24), which adjoins the Mary Lasker Room (normally, seating up to 12), and the Buttery Dining Room (normally, seating up to 24).
- Oakeshott Room: particularly suited to society talks, drama productions, music rehearsals, and concerts. (Only approved students can use the piano in the Oakeshott Room, and they need to book with the Domestic Bursary; practice is limited to certain periods each week.) No food or drink is allowed, and functions must always finish by 11.30 pm.
- Turl Mitre Rooms: Four rooms are available; the Mitre Reading Room, Courtyard Room, the Turl Lecture Room and the Turl Reading Room.

- Deep Hall: suitable for amplified music, may be used only outside its normal opening hours, and with the agreement of the Bar Manager.
- Sports ground and pavilion: bookings must be made at least two weeks in advance, and parties must end by 10.30 pm (out of consideration for neighbouring residents); the Domestic Operations Manager or Deans may impose further restrictions and require you to liaise with the Ground staff or other staff. Key collection/return must be from the main lodge on Turl Street.
- Grove: can in theory be used for functions in the same way as the other venues, but in practice the Domestic Operations Manager and Deans are likely to regard it as unsuitable for an essentially private function.
- Beckington Room and Williams Room: must be booked by a Fellow (or another member of the SCR) who will be present throughout the function. The Senior Dean and Lodge must be informed. Cannot be booked after dinner on Sundays, Guest Nights or Chapter Days.
- Hall: can only be booked with the permission of the Governing Body, so advance planning is necessary if you are considering requesting use of the Hall: discuss with the Domestic Operations Manager to see if the booking is possible, then consult the Senior Dean to raise the matter with the Governing Body. Permission is only given for student functions. You should not make further plans until you hear back from the Senior Dean.

The Lady Abraham Common Room, at the EPA centre, is available to both JCR and MCR members during term-time. Out of term it is designated for conference and summer school use. When the room has been booked out by an external group and is unavailable to students a notice will be posted on the notice board outside the room. If you wish to hold a specific event there during term-time, with 10 or more people attending, please contact both the JCR and the MCR Presidents. Any event needs to be open to all College members. If the Presidents agree that the event can go ahead, it is your responsibility to put a note on the door a few days beforehand, and to inform the site Warden and the porter on duty. Events should not usually continue past 11.30 pm, and you are required to clear up properly afterwards. If you would like to make a booking to use the TV at a certain time, please use the sign-up sheet supplied on the notice board.

10.6.3. Functions in your own college room

If you wish to hold a function, such as a party, in your own room you need to make a booking as detailed in section 10.6.1. Such functions must finish by 11.30 pm, or 12.30 am on Saturdays. The Deans may not permit functions in rooms during the exam period.

When you book, you must indicate that you have already make suitable arrangements with your neighbours and anyone else who may be disturbed. Numbers should be in keeping with the latest domestic guidance at College (see the links at the top of section 10). Consult the Domestic Bursary if you are unsure about how many people may be accommodated in a room. All noise must be kept to a tolerable level and any requests to be quieter must be followed, as must any instructions by the Deans or Porters.

10.6.4. Flags

College members are permitted to make a request for an alternative flag to be flown, either on the main site or at the College Boat House, with the following conditions: the alternative flag is to be flown for a maximum of one month; applications are to be taken by the Senior Dean to the Governing Body for approval; any application deemed frivolous or offensive will be rejected outright; the flag is to be supplied by the College member / society making the application.

10.6.5. Music practice

Two music practice rooms, equipped with pianos, are available in the basement of the Berrow Foundation Building. They can be booked for up to two hours at a time via the Domestic Bursary.

10.7. Use of quadrangles

The College and its students are proud of the appearance of its quadrangles, and keen to keep them looking as good as they do. So, with one exception, you are not allowed to use them for recreational purposes or go onto the grass in any of them. The exception is the Grove, during Trinity Term and the Long Vacation. Then, you can use this space, including its lawn, as an outdoor common room, and to play croquet (but no other ball game or sport). Any music must be kept at a very low level (i.e. it shouldn't be heard outside your immediate vicinity). Do not take glassware into the Grove (broken glass and bare feet are bad companions), and please clear away any litter or other mess that you create: rubbish and recycling bins are conveniently located for your use. If you eat your lunch in the Grove, please take your dishes back to the servery area or Deep Hall. When summer school or conference groups are in residence, you are required to seek permission from the Domestic Bursary before playing croquet. In using this space, too, please be considerate especially of those who have their rooms around the Grove, and who towards the end of the summer term may well be preparing for Prelims: so keep the noise reasonable, especially as the evening goes on.

10.8. Post-exam celebrations

You will almost certainly want to celebrate the end of your University examinations, or help your friends to do so. The traditional place in College for doing so is the Grove. There are some points regarding post-examination celebrations that you should keep in mind.

Remember the College's rules against leaving litter and mess in the Grove (section 10.7), and against causing harm, loss or distress to other members of the College community, or harm or loss to the College, or defacement or fouling of the College's property or premises (section 10.9). These rules apply just as much to post-examination celebrations as otherwise. They mean, among other things, that you must not soil the College or your fellow-students (without their consent) with alcohol, streamers, flour, eggs, confetti, or anything else. If you yourself are already soiled in this way, you may be asked to restrict your movements on College premises until you have cleaned yourself up.

Pay attention to the University Student Handbook on the subject of behaviour outside College. Broadly speaking, this will be handled by the police, who will apply the ordinary law, as they would in any other context. You can expect them to exercise a degree of tolerance about reasonable joyfulness, even if an offence is technically being committed, but you do need to be aware that they could in principle prosecute for more or less any form of rowdy, disruptive, uncooperative, or littering behaviour on the streets, and indeed for even possessing alcohol on several City Centre streets including the High Street (these being alcohol-free zones). Bear in mind that you most certainly do not want to finish your Oxford career with a criminal record: so play safe.

If you yourself are not finishing examinations but are there to celebrate with a friend who is, please try to help them have a good but safe time. Recent changes in University policing also mean that the Proctors and University Marshall and his officers are taking an increasingly strict role in preventing not just rowdiness but also mess ('trashing') in Merton Street as well as The High. The official University position is that students are NOT to celebrate in City streets, but instead to move immediately to their colleges. The Proctors' and Marshall's staff now routinely issue on-the-spot University fines for breaking these rules outside Schools. These fines become part of your permanent University and College record. Don't get them into situations they won't later thank you for; indeed, help them keep out of such situations.

10.9. Behaviour and discipline

To a very large extent, College life runs smoothly without the need for formal statements about what kinds of behaviour are required and forbidden, or about the disciplinary consequences in the event of a transgression. Everyone understands the ordinary norm of consideration for others and acts on the basis of wanting College to be a successful community, doing their own bit to keep it that way, or indeed to make it better. If there are sources of potential difficulty, we try to identify them and deal with them constructively before further problems arise. The Deans work closely to this end with the JCR and MCR executives, and with other College officers and staff.

In the background, however, the College has codes of rules about behaviour and discipline. The central one is contained in the Governing Body's by-law VI:D, which is reproduced below. Others, dealing with sexual harassment and freedom of speech, can be accessed via the College's website. If you find yourself in difficulties over behaviour and discipline in College, you may wish to seek advice from your tutor, the Chaplain and Student Welfare Co-ordinator, and/or the JCR or MCR President or Welfare Officer. You should be aware that, in applying its rules, the College will not be particularly receptive to the argument that students should be able to get away with more than other people. On the contrary, we are particularly keen not to have one standard for you, another for members of staff.

A particular word about noise. In the terms of the rules printed below, you must not make so much noise that you cause, or create a real danger of, distress to other members of the College community. As you see, the yardstick here is the effect on the hearer, rather than some abstract standard of what is tolerable, or your own opinions about this. So you need to adjust your noisiness to your surroundings. Bear in mind also that what causes distress depends not only on the volume but also on the quality of the sound, the place (some College rooms are less sound-proof than others!), the time of day (less will be tolerated at night and in the morning), the season of the year (in summer, windows may be open and people will be revising for exams), and whether the incident is a one-off or part of a series. All that said, music practice and rehearsals may take place only between 10 am and 11 pm.

Please note that codes of decent behaviour extend to the many people who, though not members of the College itself, use and visit it frequently. Although carefully restricted so as not to impact College life negatively during full term, conference business is a vital and necessary means for the College to subsidise the range of benefits its members enjoy. In addition, College wants visitors to be able to enjoy seeing its quads and buildings, like the Chapel and Wesley Room, during convenient restricted hours. Courtesy and respect as hosts should be shown by all College members to casual visitors, tourists, conference guests, and summer school participants. Similarly, all such guests must respect the College's own rules and customs. As such, the rules concerning misbehaviour outlined below apply equally in and out of term, for members and non-members alike.

Finally, it is everyone's hope that the disciplinary procedures below only very rarely have to be used.

VI:D DISCIPLINE AND RELATED MATTERS

1. Application

- i.* This By-law applies to undergraduate, graduate and visiting students of the College, and (except in so far as its provisions cannot be given force in their case) to associate members of the JCR and MCR; and refers to all such people as 'students'.
- ii.* In this By-law, an incident occurs 'in a College context' –
 - (a) Where the victim is the University of Oxford or any of its colleges; or
 - (b) Where the victim is a member or employee of the University of Oxford or of any of its colleges; or
 - (c) Where the incident occurs on the premises of the University of Oxford or of any of its colleges; or
 - (d) Where the alleged perpetrator's connection with the College is or becomes apparent and significant.

2. Behaviour expected of students

- i.* In a College context, students must not without reasonable justification or excuse –
 - (a) Cause, or create a real danger of, harm, loss or distress to another (including the defacement or fouling of property or premises);
 - (b) Misuse or improperly interfere with security or fire safety equipment.
- ii.* Students must not without reasonable justification or excuse –
 - (a) Fail to keep safe and secure, or at the appropriate time to return, College keys and equivalent devices.
 - (b) Cause, or create a real danger of, damage to the College's standing or reputation as a college.
 - (c) Disrupt the academic environment of the College.
 - (d) Without the Senior Dean's permission use College premises or facilities, or the College's name or address, or any Oxford University email address, for business purposes.
 - (e) Disobey any other College rules
 - (f) Disobey reasonable instructions given by College officers or staff.
 - (g) Fail to comply with the terms of any agreement (in particular, accommodation licence agreement) they may have with the College.
- iii.* Students must make reasonable efforts to ensure that their guests' behaviour also conforms to the requirements of this section.

3. Misbehaviour

'Misbehaviour' means failure to comply with the requirements of 2 above, whether intentionally or knowingly or, in circumstances where it is reasonable to expect care to be taken, through want of care: but excluding conduct covered by the College's Academic Support and Discipline rules or by its Code of Conduct on Sexual Harassment.

4. Procedure for dealing with misbehaviour

- i. In these provisions:
 - (a) If the Sub-Rector is the tutor or college adviser of a student involved in disciplinary proceedings, he or she shall normally not play a personal part in those proceedings, but shall nominate another senior fellow to act in his or her place. The Sub-Rector may also nominate another senior fellow to act in his or her place in any other disciplinary proceedings.
 - (b) If the Senior Dean is the tutor or college adviser of a student involved in disciplinary proceedings, he or she shall normally not play a personal part in those proceedings, but shall nominate another Dean or fellow to act in his or her place.
 - (c) When used hereafter in this By-law, the terms ‘Sub-Rector’ and ‘Senior Dean’ extend to those nominated to act in their place in this way.
- ii. Where the Senior Dean believes there to be at least a substantial prima facie case that a student is guilty of misbehaviour, he or she shall, in his or her discretion, decide either to take no disciplinary action, or to follow either Course 1 or Course 2 as described below; but –
 - (a) In exercising this discretion, the Senior Dean shall take account of factors such as the seriousness of the apparent misbehaviour, the complexity or significance of its context, and the suitability of the various disposals available; and any admonition, or severe admonition the student may have previously received under this procedure, together with its background and terms.
 - (b) As well as exercising this discretion ad hoc, the Senior Dean may also decide that he or she will normally treat cases of a particular type in a particular way.
 - (c) The Sub-Rector may require that proceedings be taken under Course 2.
- iii. Course 1.
 - (a) The Senior Dean shall himself or herself consider the matter fully, giving the student the opportunity to answer the case against him or her.
 - (b) In the event of concluding that the conduct alleged constitutes misbehaviour and that the student is very probably guilty of it, the Senior Dean shall decide upon a penalty: an admonition; in case of damage to property and premises, a charge in order to cover the cost of its cleaning, repair or replacement; withdrawal or restriction of access to some College facilities (including Deep Hall and the College sports ground, but not including College accommodation) or events (including the College Ball and College graduation celebrations); up to 10 hours community service (for example, in the Library); a fine of up to £200; or any appropriate combination of these.
 - (c) The Senior Dean’s determination shall be put in writing and communicated to the student. The communication to the student shall refer also to his or her rights of appeal.
- iv. Course 2.
 - (a) The matter shall be passed to the Sub-Rector, who shall convene the Disciplinary Committee, consisting of the Sub-Rector, the Senior Dean and one other Fellow not being the student’s tutor or college adviser.
 - (b) The Committee shall meet to hear the case. Its hearing shall take place as soon as practicable; normally within two weeks of the matter having reached the Sub-Rector.
 - (c) In advance of its hearing, the Senior Dean shall supply the Committee with a clear written statement of the case against the student, together with relevant supporting documents. The Senior Dean shall at the same time supply the student with a copy of all documentation with which the Committee is provided.
 - (d) If he or she considers it appropriate to do so, the Sub-Rector may give the student a broad indication of the penalty which might ensue if the Committee found the case against the student made out.
 - (e) The Committee shall give the student the opportunity to answer the case. He or she may do so by means of a written submission to the Committee; and/or by either a personal appearance before the Committee (accompanied, if he or she wishes, by another person of his or her choice), or asking a representative of his or her choice to appear before the Committee on his or her behalf. The student and his or her companion or representative shall withdraw before the Committee takes its decisions.

- (f) The Committee shall consider the matter fully and conclude whether the conduct alleged constitutes misbehaviour and whether the student is very probably guilty of it. If it concludes that that is the case, it shall decide upon a penalty: an admonition; in the case of damage to property and premises, a charge in order to cover the cost of its cleaning, repair or replacement; withdrawal or restriction of access to some or all College facilities (including College accommodation) or events, rustication, or sending down; up to 10 hours community service (for example in the Library); a fine of up to £200; or any appropriate combination of these. The Committee may also impose a condition on the student's continued membership of the College or access to its facilities, requiring him or her to take and follow appropriate medical advice and/or to satisfy the College Doctor that he or she has reached a particular level of health.
- (g) The Committee's determination shall be put in writing and communicated to the student. The communication to the student shall refer also to his or her rights of appeal.

5 Offences against University regulations or the law of the land

- i. If a student is convicted of an offence against University regulations or the law of the land, he or she shall ipso facto also be also guilty of misbehaviour under these provisions and shall be dealt with accordingly, if the conduct for which he or she was convicted -
 - (a) Is of a nature within the terms of 3 above; or
 - (b) In the case of an offence against the law of the land, might in principle have resulted in his or her imprisonment (whether or not it in fact had this outcome), and is reasonably to be regarded either as raising an unacceptable risk of future misbehaviour by the student under 3 above or as in itself destructive of the trust necessary to his or her membership of the College community.
- ii. But-
 - (a) Those deciding upon any penalty or medical condition under this provision shall aim to address only aspects of the case not covered by the outside tribunal. For example, if a student incurs a criminal sentence for an assault which also counts as misbehaviour under these provisions, that may be viewed as sufficient retribution; but it may nonetheless still be appropriate to exclude the student from College premises pending the satisfaction of a medical condition, if that appears proper so as to secure the future safety of College members.
 - (b) It is recognised that, in order to achieve this, it may be necessary to postpone or adjourn proceedings under these provisions when that would not otherwise be appropriate or permissible, and/or to re-open disposals already decided upon.

6 Collective punishments

- i. Where the Senior Dean believes there to be at least a substantial prima facie case that some student is guilty of misbehaviour, but is unable to identify that student, he or she may in his or her discretion proceed to impose a collective punishment in two cases –
 - (a) Case A: where, in view of the nature of the alleged misbehaviour (e.g. misbehaviour in a certain house, or at a certain party or society function), the student responsible for it is likely to have been a member of a particular group within the College (e.g. the occupants of that house, or those present at that party or function); and the alleged misbehaviour can reasonably be regarded as a predictable incident of the activities of the group as such. In this Case, the collective punishment shall be of the group in question.
 - (b) Case B: where the requirements of Case A are not satisfied, but the alleged misbehaviour consists in misuse of or improper interference with security or fire safety equipment, Library or computing facilities, or social or sporting facilities. In this Case, the collective punishment shall be of the JCR and MCR (or one of them alone, if, in the circumstances, the student responsible is likely to have been a member of one rather than the other).

- ii. Before imposing a collective punishment, the Senior Dean shall consider the matter fully, giving the members of the group or Common Room (or their representatives, if the Senior Dean thinks this more appropriate) the opportunity to answer the case against the unidentified offender, and to advance any arguments to the effect that the requirements of Case A or B, as appropriate, are not made out.
- iii. If the Senior Dean concludes that the conduct alleged constitutes misbehaviour and that the requirements of Case A or B, as appropriate, are made out, he or she may –
 - (a) In Case A, admonish the group or impose a fine not exceeding the sum which, if divided equally between the members of the group in question, would require a payment of £50 from each, up to a maximum of £500.
 - (b) In Case B, impose a fine of up to £500 (in toto) on the Common Room(s).
 - (c) In both Cases, additionally or alternatively withdraw or restrict the access of the group or Common Room(s) to College facilities for some period.
- iv. The Senior Dean shall give the members of the group or Common Room (or their representatives) written notice of his or her determination. The written notice shall refer also to the rights of appeal available to the group or Common Room(s).
- v. A decision to hold a group or Common Room responsible for misbehaviour under this section shall not count as a finding of misbehaviour against the members of the group or Common Room for the purposes of their disciplinary record.

7. Procedure for charging costs

- i. In this section, ‘the Bursar’ includes another person to whom the Bursar has delegated his or her authority under this section in a particular case or group of cases.
- ii. The Bursar may charge a student, a group of students or a Common Room, all or part of the cost of rectifying any harm or loss, if (but only if) the harm or loss is the result of misbehaviour
 - (a) Of which the student is guilty under 3 above; or
 - (b) For which the group or Common Room has been held responsible under 6 above.
- iii. The question whether a student is guilty of misbehaviour for the purposes of ii(a) above shall be answered –
 - (a) Where it has been considered in proceedings under Course 1 or Course 2, by those proceedings.
 - (b) Where the Senior Dean has decided to take no disciplinary action in the case, by the Bursar, who shall consider the matter fully, giving the student the opportunity to answer the case against him or her; and shall find that the student is guilty of misbehaviour only if he or she concludes that the conduct alleged constitutes misbehaviour within 2 above, and that the student is very probably guilty of it.
- iv. If the Bursar decides to charge costs to a student, group or Common Room under this section, he or she shall then give the student, group or Common Room written notice of this.
- v. The Bursar may comply with iii(b) and iv above by imposing the charge through battels, without prior discussion, so long as the battels statement (or a note accompanying it) explains why the charge is being imposed and makes clear that the recipient has the right to require the question to be reopened and decided only after a discussion.
- vi. A finding of misbehaviour under iii(b) above shall not count as a finding of misbehaviour for the purposes of the student’s disciplinary record.

8. Appeals and reporting

- i.* The arrangements whereby students may appeal against orders made against them under this By-law are set out in By-law VI:P.
- ii.* The Senior Dean shall report, in the Reserved Business of the Junior Relations Committee, and thence to the Reserved Business of Governing Body, the name of any student who receives any penalty under this By-Law, other than a simple admonition, without any detail as to the nature of the offence that occasioned the disciplinary action.
- iii.* The Senior Dean shall also report, in the Open Business of the Michaelmas Term meeting of the Junior Relations Committee and thence to the Open Business of the Governing Bod, the number of reports he or she made under ii above in the preceding academic year. This report shall be presented in such a way as to disclose neither the identity of the students involved, nor any detail as to the nature of the offences.

VI:O INTERIM EXCLUSION

1. Application

This By-law applies to undergraduate, graduate and visiting students of the College, and to associate members of the JCR and MCR; and refers to all such people as 'students'.

2. Provision for interim exclusion

- i.* The power under this By-law shall normally be exercisable by the Rector, but –
 - (a)* If the Rector is unavailable, by another College officer.
 - (b)* If the Rector for any reason decides not to act in person, by another College officer nominated by the Rector.
 - (c)* When used hereafter in this By-law, the term 'Rector' extends to those thus replacing him or her.
- ii.* If the Rector believes that the interests of the College and/or of the student make it proper to do so, he or she may forthwith exclude that student from College premises and facilities as an interim measure.
- iii.* The interim exclusion order shall be –
 - (a)* No more extensive in scope than the Rector believes necessary in the circumstances, and in particular may be unconditional or conditional, and may exclude the student from all or only some College premises and facilities.
 - (b)* No longer in duration than the Rector believes necessary in the circumstances.
- iv.* Subject to iii above, the Rector may vary the terms of the order, to make it less or more extensive in scope, and/or to make it shorter or longer in duration. But the maximum continuous period of interim exclusion shall be the remainder of the term in which it begins, together with the following vacation (or, if the interim exclusion begins in a vacation, the remainder of that vacation, together with the following term).
- v.* As soon as possible after making an interim exclusion order, and again after making any subsequent variation in such an order, the Rector –
 - (a)* Shall write to the student, detailing the grounds on which he or she has done so, and explaining the student's right to appeal against exclusion; and
 - (b)* Shall take, or ask others to take, steps towards finding an appropriate longer-term outcome, whether by disciplinary proceedings or otherwise (though this provision shall not permit any steps or outcome which would not otherwise be permissible).
- vi.* If a student has been excluded in this way and is the subject of disciplinary proceedings, he or she shall not be permitted to return to College in order to participate in those proceedings unless the Rector so orders. The student's other rights (e.g. to make a written submission, and to be represented by another person) shall however be unaffected, and those conducting the disciplinary proceedings may make other arrangements to hear the student in person.

3. Appeals and reporting

- i.* The arrangements whereby students may appeal against orders made against them under this By-law are set out in By-law VI:P.
- ii.* A report shall be made to Governing Body, via the Michaelmas Term meeting of the Junior Relations Committee, about the use made of this By-law over the preceding academic year. This report shall be presented in such a way as not to disclose the identity of the students involved.

Who's Who in College

The Governing Body of the College consists of the Rector and Fellows of the College (including the Professorial Fellows). The Governing Body has overall responsibility for the academic, financial and domestic administration of the College.

The Rector presides over the Governing body and oversees the administration of the College.

The Sub-Rector takes precedence immediately after the Rector and deputises for him or her when absent from College or when the post of Rector is vacant. They also have a role in the College's disciplinary procedures. The Sub-Rector is a senior member of the Governing Body.

Tutorial Fellows are the teaching Fellows (subject tutors) of the College and are members of the Governing Body.

Professorial Fellows are the non-teaching Fellows who hold University Research Posts and are members of the Governing Body.

Lecturers act as subject tutors but are not members of the Governing Body.

The Senior Tutor has general responsibility for academic administration and discipline and implements new College policies on academic matters for all junior members. The Senior Tutor is available to both undergraduate and graduate students for consultation on any academic or personal matter.

The Academic Registrar works with the Senior Tutor in running the academic administration of the College. She is the first point of contact for undergraduate queries about examinations; book, travel and vacation grants; and any general concerns.

The Assistant Registrar supports the Academic Registrar in all of the above.

The Admissions Officer assists the Senior Tutor with all matters concerning the admission of both undergraduates and graduates.

The Graduate Officer and Academic Assistant takes care of graduate academic concerns and administrative business post admissions, including the Graduate Research Fund and Senior Scholarships. She is also responsible for Undergraduate Collections at the start of term, and provides assistance to the Fellows, Chaplain, Senior Tutor and Senior Dean.

The Senior Dean is responsible for all non-academic discipline matters and also for communicating to the JCR any decisions by the Governing Body which may affect them. The Senior Dean is assisted by Junior Deans and Wardens, who are usually members of the MCR.

The Welfare Dean is responsible for student welfare generally and oversees the welfare-related work of the Chaplain and the Nurse. They report to Governing Body and its standing committees on the general welfare climate in College, advising Governing Body on development of its policies and procedures, when necessary. The Welfare Dean does not provide support to individual students.

The Chaplain and Student Welfare Co-ordinator is available as a confidential and sympathetic resource to junior members, irrespective of religious faith or belief. All are welcome to approach her in confidence on any matter.

The Student Support Advisor works with the Senior Tutor, the Chaplain and Student Welfare Coordinator and other members of the College's welfare team, to provide advice and guidance to students and tutors on disability, student support, and welfare matters

The Librarian manages the College Library, which is located in All Saints' Church at the south end of Turl Street.

The Bursar is responsible for the College's financial planning and management, and for the domestic management of the College. He is the primary contact for any questions relating to fees and to students' general financial affairs. He also administers the College's provision of financial support in cases of hardship and acts as the College's administrator for the Student Loan scheme.

The Domestic Operations Manager is responsible for the supervision of domestic arrangements in the College and its annexes. The Domestic Operations Manager's office manages matters related to accommodation (including room allocations, vacation residence, the provision of furniture, etc), catering and the booking of public rooms.

The Clerk of Works is responsible for maintenance and, where necessary, refurbishment of the College's fabric and physical structure.

The IT Manager is responsible for all aspects of the College's I.T. facilities, including University- and College-wide networks, liaison with University I.T. services and advising on individuals' computing equipment.

The Development Director manages the College's relations with its alumni (including the organisation of gaudies, Year Dinners, and other functions) and is responsible for the College's fund-raising activities.

COLLEGE COMMITTEES

In addition to the Governing Body Meetings held each year, there are Standing Committees whose terms of reference are to report, advise and inform the Governing Body on financial, academic, domestic, and welfare matters. The Bursar convenes the Finance Committee, the Senior Tutor convenes the Senior Tutor's Committee and the Domestic Operations Manager convenes the Domestic Committee. MCR and JCR Presidents and/or relevant members of their Common Room Committees attend the first portion of Standing Committees for discussion and action upon an Unreserved Agenda; Fellows only are present for the ensuing Reserved Agenda which handles matters restricted by confidentiality.

In addition, the views and opinions of all Junior Members are represented at the Junior Relations Committee, the Welfare Committee, and the Equality Committee, convened by the Senior Dean, Welfare Dean, and Bursar respectively.

The College strives to provide for its students excellent and congenial accommodation in which to work and live. Consultation about fees and charges, and provision of facilities takes place regularly between College officers and representatives of the Middle and Junior Common Rooms.

Appendix 2: Appeals

Extracted from the College By-laws:

VI:P APPEALS

1 Application

- i.* This By-law applies to undergraduate, graduate and visiting students of the College, and to associate members of the JCR and MCR; and refers to all such people as 'students'.
- ii.* For these purposes, 'student' also includes a group of students, or a Common Room (as, though not only, where a group or Common Room is held responsible for misbehaviour under By-law VI:D.6). References to 'student' in this By-law shall accordingly, where appropriate, be read as references to the group or Common Room, or to its representative(s).

2 Rights of appeal

- i.* A student who is affected by a decision of a College officer, or who is the subject of a decision by the Disciplinary Committee or the Academic Disciplinary Committee, may appeal against that decision to –
 - (a)* The College's appellate tribunal, as defined in 3 below; and thereafter
 - (b)* The Appeal Tribunal of the Conference of Colleges, subject to the Tribunal's own regulations.
- ii.* A student also has such rights as he or she may hold under external provisions, notably a right to appeal to the Office of the Independent Adjudicator.

3 The appellate tribunal

- i.* The College's appellate tribunal (hereafter in this By-law referred to as 'the tribunal') shall be –
 - (a)* If the appeal is against a decision of the Disciplinary Committee or the Academic Disciplinary Committee or the Fitness to Study Panel that the student be sent down: the Governing Body, convened by the Rector.
 - (b)* If the appeal is against a decision of the Disciplinary Committee or the Academic Disciplinary Committee or the Fitness to Study Panel, to any other effect than that the student be sent down: the Appeal Committee, convened by the Rector, and consisting of the Rector, one other fellow, and one other person who shall not currently be a member of the Governing Body of the College.
 - (c)* In all other cases: the Appeal Committee, convened by the Sub-Rector, and consisting of the Sub-Rector and two other fellows. The Sub-Rector may alternatively nominate another senior fellow to act in his or her place.
- ii.* A person who has had a hand in the decision appealed against, or who is the tutor or college adviser of any student involved in the matter –
 - (a)* Shall not be a member of the Appeal Committee.
 - (b)* If a member of Governing Body, may participate in the Governing Body's hearing of the appeal up to the point of determination, but shall not participate in the determination itself.
- iii.* If the Rector or Sub-Rector declines to act as convener of the tribunal on the ground in ii above, he or she shall nominate another senior fellow to act in his or her place.

4 Appeal procedure

- i.* A student who wishes to exercise his or her right of appeal shall give notice to that effect to the convener of the relevant tribunal. This notice must normally be given within one week of the decision appealed against, and in writing. It must state the grounds on which the student believes that decision unsatisfactory.

- ii. Once the convener has received the student's notice –
 - (a) The tribunal shall meet to hear the case. In the case of the Appeal Committee, the hearing shall take place as soon as practicable; normally within two weeks of the convener's receipt of the student's notice. In the case of the Governing Body, the hearing shall take place at the next scheduled College Meeting to which the matter can conveniently be brought, unless the Rector convenes a special College Meeting for the purpose.
 - (b) In advance of the hearing, the convener shall supply the members of the tribunal with a note of the decision appealed against, the student's notice, and any other relevant documents. The convener shall at the same time supply the student with a copy of all documentation with which the members of the tribunal are provided.
- iii. The tribunal shall –
 - (a) Give the student the opportunity to make a personal appearance before it (accompanied, if he or she wishes, by another person of his or her choice), or to ask a representative of his or her choice to appear before it on his or her behalf. The student and his or her companion or representative shall withdraw before the appellate body takes its decision. The tribunal may also interview any other person it wishes; he or she too shall withdraw before the tribunal takes its decision.
 - (b) Consider the matter fully, and decide whether the appeal should be allowed.
- iv. If the tribunal allows the appeal, it may substitute any outcome which –
 - (a) Would have been available in the relevant circumstances to the college officer or Committee whose decision is the subject of the appeal; and
 - (b) In the view of the tribunal, bears no harder on the appellant than the outcome appealed against.
- v. The tribunal's determination shall be put in writing and communicated to the student.

5 Reporting

A report shall be made to Governing Body, via the Michaelmas Term meeting of the Junior Relations Committee, about the use made of this By-law over the preceding academic year. This report shall be presented in such a way as not to disclose the identity of the students involved.

Appendix 3: Requirements for students during the Covid-19 pandemic

Lincoln College is committed to measures to minimise health risks to students, staff and the wider Oxford community, especially during the current Covid-19 pandemic. Each student also has a responsibility for both their own health and that of others, especially those with vulnerabilities. Maintaining social distance at all times in community spaces, avoiding large gatherings and being mindful of the needs of those alongside whom we live, work and travel will help reduce the risks for everyone.

Until further notice students must comply with the following requirements to protect our community's health and support our collective wellbeing during the COVID-19 pandemic:

- i. To abide by all national public health regulations brought in to stop the spread of COVID-19 and follow the University and/or Colleges' specific guidance on health measures, together with local public health guidance as relevant for the circumstances.
- ii. To request a test via the University's Testing for Covid-19: Early Alert Service (EAS) immediately if a student experiences COVID-like symptoms, and notify the College and Department nominated contact accordingly, and to follow all instructions from the EAS, including in relation to self-isolation.
- iii. To understand that COVID-19 is a public health issue and cooperate fully with University, colleges and public health authorities, including participating fully in any contact tracing as requested.
- iv. To practise effective hygiene methods to limit contact transmission, including regular thorough handwashing with soap, the use of hand sanitisers as requested, the wiping down of surfaces and the correct wearing and disposal/washing of face coverings.
- v. Those who live in College or University accommodation must follow College and/or University guidelines on interacting with and sharing communal spaces with members of a household (or 'bubble' as appropriate). Those who live in private households will follow the relevant Government/Public Health England guidance and follow guidance regarding how or whether to enter others' households and any limits on the number of people allowed to visit a household.
- vi. To show respect and consideration for the collegiate University and wider Oxford community, adhere to social distancing requirements and maximum group size rules, and follow all rules and signage about expected behaviour for the relevant space when interacting with anyone outside a student's household or 'bubble', whether in College, on University premises, on public transport or elsewhere in the city.
- vii. To adhere to the University's policy and Government rules on wearing face coverings, which will include the requirement for face coverings to be worn for in-person teaching indoors and in any shared indoor spaces.
- viii. To ensure that any guests of students adhere to these same standards of behaviour in University, College or other spaces.

We appreciate that not all students may be able to comply with every requirement all the time – e.g. some students have legitimate exemptions from wearing face coverings. Further guidance can be obtained at <https://www.ox.ac.uk/coronavirus/health>.

NOTE – Behaviour which breaches the above requirements (and for which the student does not have any reasonable mitigation) may result in disciplinary action by either (a) a College (if the breach occurs on College premises and the student involved is a member of that College) or (b) the Proctors, under Statute XI – the Student Disciplinary Code – if it occurs in a University context (as defined in Statute XI).
